Bromley Tests New Plane For Pacific Non-stop Flight

Former Victorian Hopes Soon to Start From Tacoma for Tokyo; New Machine Is Same as One Wrecked at Tacoma on Bromley's First Attempt.

Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—Lieut. Harold Bromley, Tacoma aviator, formerly of Victoria, B.C., who hopes to fly to Japan, prepared today to test out his new low-wing monoplane.

Should the preliminary tests prove satisfactory, Bromley plans to fly to Burke Dry Lake, 100 miles north of here, for load tests. When these are completed he expects to leave for Tacoma, then hop for Japan on a non-stop flight as soon as possible.

The new machine is identical with the one which was wrecked at Tacoma while Bromley attempted to take off for Tokyo some months ago.

Liverpool, Sept. 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—"I am completely satisfied with the results of my visit," declared Right Hon. J. H. "I hope and I feel it will contribute toward a solution of the unemployment problem of this country this winter."

"Canada will take coal and steel from Great Britain which she at present takes from other areas."

Trade Council Is Told Increased U.S. Tariffs Will Cut Down Exports

Seattle, Sept. 18.—The price of an increase in tariffs will be "curtailed exports," Dr. Henry F. Grady, dean of the College of Commerce of the University of California, told delegates here today, at the second general session of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council's annual convention.

"I am not here advocating elimination of tariffs," he said, "but am simply trying to bring out the fact that there is this relationship between our tariff rates and our exports, and that when we increase the number of duties or raise the scale of duties, we pay a price in terms of curtailed exports. It is particularly important that we realize this at the present time. The U.S. Congress is now revising the tariff. There seems to be a widespread belief that we can at the same time restrict imports and increase exports. Putting the matter in another way, I feel that the present high tariff movement in this country is a menace to our prosperity through the effect which it is certain to have on the maintenance of the volume of our sales abroad."

BROADEN MARKET
"Imports do not limit the domestic manufacturers' market, they broaden it," declared Case R. Howard, manager of the foreign trade department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch (Concluded on Page 3)

CANADA'S PULP AND PAPER OUTPUT SETS NEW RECORD

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Gross value of the pulp and paper produced in Canada during 1928 was $233,535,325, an increase of $14,000,000 over the 1927 total. This gross figure did not include pulpwood nor the pulp made in combined pulp and paper mills for their own use in making paper. In its report the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says the pulp and paper industry is the most important manufacturing industry in Canada, heading the list in 1928 for gross and net values of manufactured products as well as for distribution of goods. Sales of the industry were 110 establishments in operation during 1928, as compared with 114 in 1927, with 32,614 employees and a total payroll of $47,322,244. The total capital invested in the manufacturing part of the industry was $685,697,450. Newspaper paper made up 84.7 per cent of the total reported tonnage of paper manufactured in 1928. The newspaper print amounted to 2,415,393 tons, valued at $144,146,632.

REALTORS FACE PROSECUTION IF FEES NOT PAID

Action Against Vancouver Firms Now Pending By Insurance Superintendent

No Move Against Victoria Real Estate Brokers Made So Far

Firms and individuals carrying on real estate business in Vancouver who have not taken out the annual Provincial Government license required by the Real Estate Agents Licensing Act are to be prosecuted. Instructions to this effect have been issued by the superintendent of insurance, who is in charge of administration of the act for the Attorney-General's Department. Legal representatives are now engaged in procuring evidence on which prosecutions will shortly be launched.

Although this action has been taken in Vancouver, nothing has been done in Victoria up to the present time it was announced to-day.

FAILED TO PAY
The time for renewing licenses was June 30. It is claimed by the department that a large number of real estate offices in Vancouver, have, in spite of due warning, failed to pay their fees and take out their licenses. All are to be prosecuted, according to the instructions issued without fear or favor, unless within the next few days they make good their delinquency. It is suggested that some brokerage houses may have ceased to engage in the real estate business. The department has no means of knowing this, and if such firms wish to avoid the expense and annoyance of prosecution, they are urged to communicate with the department so that their names may be investigated before proceedings are launched.

TAX PAYMENTS GROW
Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Income tax collections are mounting. In the five months ended August 31, the collections totaled $60,392,142, an increase of $9,311,918 over the corresponding period in 1928. In August alone, according to the National Revenue Department's figures, collections were $850,427, against $622,100 in August of last year.

PATTULLO SAYS PREMIER'S TOUR BROUGHT LITTLE

Liberal Leader Comments on Tolmie's Return From Eastern Canada
Vancouver, Sept. 18.—T. D. Pattullo, M.P.P., Provincial Liberal leader, a visitor in Vancouver to-day, commenting on the interview issued by Premier Tolmie on his return from the east, said: "Dr. Tolmie stated the main object of his visit was a conference with Mr. J. H. Thomas, a member of the British Government."

"From Dr. Tolmie's statement of his representations to Mr. Thomas it would seem Mr. Thomas must have been greatly impressed with the economic wisdom of the Doctor's utterances. For example, Mr. Thomas must have been glad to learn it would be unprofitable to place British settlers in Britain to be similarly unemployed in Canada. Administration officials claim the Anglo-American agreement in principle would end competition which of itself would result in smaller cruises and great savings to Great Britain and the United States."

DEATH REPORTED

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—A report reached this city this morning that Miss Thelma Johnston, eighteen, of Vancouver, had died in the Porel River hospital from wound received in the accidental discharge of a shotgun while she was sitting on the veranda of her parents' house at Lund, fifteen miles from Powell River.

STOCK INQUIRY IN VANCOUVER MADE WIDER

Exchange Officials Aid Police in Tracing Reports of Bucketing of Orders

Committee Meets to Discuss What Steps Ought to Be Taken

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—While Chief of Police W. J. Bingham is making a secret inquiry into allegations that certain Vancouver stockbrokers are "bucketing" orders instead of executing them as prescribed by law, the managing committee of the Vancouver Stock Exchange will meet this afternoon to discuss what steps can be taken to curb the evil.

"We intend to co-operate to the fullest extent with the civic and provincial authorities," stated S. W. Miller, president of the Stock Exchange, "Every effort will be made to discover who these alleged bucket shop operators are. Our investigation will not be confined to members of the Stock Exchange alone."

Secession In Saanich Blazes Anew

Rural Areas Near City to Present Secession Petitions to Government

Lack of Action on Lampman Report Brings Harvest of New Complaints

The problem of secession in Saanich, shelved for several months by the Conservative Cabinet, will be brought to the fore again within a few days, when delegations from the rural sections of Wards One, Three and Seven will present separate petitions for secession, drafted on similar lines to that from the northern wards, which caused appointment of Judge F. S. Lampman as a special commissioner to inquire into the situation.

This announcement was made this morning by C. H. O'Halloran, solicitor for the complaining farmers, who stated that the farmers expected renewed focusing of the attention of the Cabinet on the problem of the threatened disruption of Premier Tolmie's constituency, hitherto one of the most prosperous and progressive municipalities of British Columbia.

T. HERRMANN MENTIONED FOR NOBEL PRIZE

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—Thomas Herrmann, celebrated German novelist, essayist and biographer, is mentioned here as possible winner of this year's Nobel Prize for Literature.

Herrmann, who was born June 4, 1875, in Luebeck, Germany, is chiefly known for his novels, "Death in Venice" and "Budden Brooks." In case the rumor proves true, next year's Nobel Prize for Literature probably would not be awarded to Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," who is mentioned, since he also is a German.

REPORTED HE IS NOW PLANNING TO PILOT AEROPLANES

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

London, Sept. 18.—The ever youthful George Bernard Shaw is air-minded, and although he is seventy-three years old, London is interested in reports that he is learning to pilot planes.

Questioned by The London Daily Mail about reports that he was having lessons at the Stag Lane Field, north of London, Shaw would not deny the reports, but said laughingly that he had not fully decided to be a qualified pilot just yet. He added more seriously: "Of course I have done a bit of flying. Everyone flies these days, and why shouldn't I? The question of qualifying as a pilot is another matter, but what I'll decide to do will be known one of these days."

The Daily Mail understands Shaw has made several practice flights during the last few weeks.

200 MEN FIGHTING BIG FIRE ON ISLAND

More than 200 men, employees of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company, assisted by an Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway train crew equipped with a locomotive and tank car, to-day are fighting a large forest fire eight miles north-east of Port Alberni, which threatens the E. & N. bridge at Stoke Siding, according to the British Columbia Forest Service.

The fire had been smouldering in a logged over area for more than a week, and yesterday afternoon, before a high westerly wind, spread into a new flaming, heading toward Stoke Siding. All available Alberni Pacific Lumber Company employees, including loggers and men from the company's lumber mill at Port Alberni, were enlisted to fight the outbreak. The train crew was busily occupied all last night pouring water on the bridge and extinguishing sparks which came down on the structure. Two provincial rangers and other forest branch employees are assisting in the fight. Lines of hose and portable pumps are being used to check the progress of the fire.

MAGISTRATE TO RULE ON LIQUOR

Vancouver Court to Decide If 1,000 Cases Are to Be Confiscated

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Decision as to confiscation of about 1,000 cases of liquor seized by city police when the premises of the Nantall's Limited, convicted of keeping liquor for sale, were raided recently, will be given by Magistrate Findlay next Saturday.

Argument against the confiscation of the stock was made to-day by W. del. Harris, K.C., who contended the matter was at the discretion of the magistrate who, he argued, might confiscate the liquor involved in the case, but should not order the whole of the stock in the warehouse to be confiscated.

Defence counsel also argued the search warrant was not valid.

EMPIRE TRADE SPEAKER'S TOPIC

Sir James Murdoch of Sydney, N.S.W., Heard in Vancouver

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Plea for closer trade relations among the units of the Empire was voiced by Sir James Murdoch, business man of Sydney, N.S.W., and member of the Legislative Council of that state, in an address to the Vancouver Canadian Club at a luncheon yesterday.

Without apology, he said, he advocated the protective tariff plan as a means to that end.

"England is at the cross-roads," he said at another point in his speech. "The Dominions are a loyal people. We are fiercely loyal in Australia and we want to trade with our 'ain folk.' We want to trade with England, but we have to wake up England on this matter of Dominion trade. When I go back to Australia I am going to worry and pester them until they do wake up."

STANDARDS DIFFER

Sir James said the suggestion of Empire free trade was not practical for many years to come. The standards of wages were different in the various countries of the Empire and neither Australia nor Canada would be willing to lower its standard to that of Great Britain. He suggested as a possible means of unifying the wage standards and stimulating trade that Dominion tariffs be established at levels representing the percentage differences in wage scales.

The suitability of Vancouver's hilly hinterland for sheep raising had impressed him, he said. It was as a Scotsman rather than an Australian that he said he felt a kinship with the people of British Columbia.

"You are hill men," he said, "and hill men always succeed."

Canada to Send More Trade Agents Abroad

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Eight junior Canadian trade commissioners who have been undergoing an extensive course of probationary training with the Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa will shortly be sent abroad as assistant trade commissioners to help in the further extension of Canadian trade in foreign lands.

Application has been made to the Civil Service Commission to assign the designated countries. Among them are Harris W. Brigston of Edmonton, a native of Brockville, Ont. to Rio Janeiro, and Bruce A. MacDonald of Vancouver, a native of Dawson City, Y.T. to Shanghai, China.

Lord Arnold To Accompany British Premier to the U.S.

London, Sept. 18.—The London Daily News to-day says the only companion of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, in addition to his daughter Isabel, on his trip to Washington, will be Lord Arnold, now Paymaster-General of the Labor Ministry. High Quality Entries At Saanichton Cause Keenest Competition

Splendid Collection of Agricultural and Domestic Products Shown by North and South Saanich Agricultural Society This Afternoon; Judging Completed in Main Building and Prize Awards Issued.

The North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's Fall Exhibition opened yesterday in the Agricultural Hall at Saanichton, with a commendable display of entries in every section. The main hall is unusually brilliant with masses of cut flowers and a bright collection of flags and pennants.

Particularly fine in the women's work, the ladies having won high praise for the outstanding quality and quantity of entries in every section. The home-cooking section and the bottled fruits and vegetables present a most worthy display of cooking, while the fancy work section has an unusually large entry list, showing some of the best needlework that has been seen at the fair for several years.

There is a good showing of hay, grain and fruit roots. In the vegetable and fruit section there is not quite so large an entry list as last year, owing to the unusually dry season, but the quality of the exhibits is exceptionally good.

FINE FLOWERS

The cut-flower section presents a wonderful display of flowers, particularly strong in this section is the showing of sweet peas, dahlias and table bouquets, the sweet peas having won special praise from the judges.

As usual the J. W. Tolmie Cup and miniature cup presented by Premier Tolmie is being keenly competed for with three excellent exhibits of vegetables.

The amateur photography section has greatly improved and shows over thirty exhibits and presented a difficult task for the judges.

The school exhibits are not as numerous as usual, but better quality is again exhibited, some splendid examples of printing and posters showing careful work and training.

NEW BUILDING FILLED

The newly erected poultry building has pleased the poultrymen, there being well over 300 exhibits of almost every variety, shown to advantage in the new pens. The eggs are shown in the main hall and a special prize for best dozen and three dozen eggs is strongly competed for. The judge commented that the exhibit of eggs was even better than at one of the larger mainland fairs.

The Indian section shows a good collection, the fruit exhibit winning special mention from the judges. Each year this division shows a better selection of articles for exhibition purposes.

Refreshments are provided for lunch and afternoon tea being served in the dining-room by the Ladies' Aid of Sidney.

MRS. F. HALKETT FOUND DYING

Victoria Woman Passes Away in Nanaimo Hospital From Bullet Wound

Nanaimo, B.C., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Florence Halkett, of Victoria, who was found shot through the left breast this morning in a summer cottage at Qualicum Beach, thirty miles north of here, died in Nanaimo General Hospital to-day.

The late Mrs. Halkett was about twenty-eight years of age. She was the wife of Gordon Halkett, of Victoria, inspector of lighthouses.

At 4.30 o'clock this morning a shot was heard, and those who made an investigation found the woman in a dying condition. She was rushed in an ambulance to the Nanaimo Hospital, where she died. An inquest will be held.

KENNEDY SUIT HEARING IN SEATTLE COURT

Seattle, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Minnie E. Kennedy, mother of Alphonse Sempé McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, was greatly concerned about what her famous daughter might think of her association with Rev. H. H. Clark of Seattle, who is suing Mrs. Kennedy for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise.

Clark testified at a preliminary hearing of the case here. The hearing was initiated by John S. Robinson, attorney for Mrs. Kennedy.

Clark said he had offered to sign a paper attesting to the good character of Mrs. Kennedy, if she in turn would pledge herself not to prosecute him for blackmail, as he said she had threatened.

"I cannot do that," she testified she told him, "and I won't until I see what results from it. I don't know what Alphonse will do about it if she uncovers this and brings it to light. Then I have simply got to bring this action against you."

In his "heart balm" suit, filed several months ago, Clark made charges. The case is scheduled to come on for trial in superior court here October 1. The preliminary hearing, although held several days ago, did not become public until late yesterday.

Clark testified that at another interview which he said he had with Mrs. Kennedy, that she cautioned him he "must not talk that way," when he criticized her.

"I got excited," Clark said she told him, "and when I got excited I holler and just lay down on the floor and roll."

Clark declared he said to her: "Holler and lay down on the floor and roll if you want to."

Clark did not relate what was the response to this alleged remark.

PLANS WRECKED

Clark charged in his complaint that Mrs. Kennedy's refusal to marry him had wrecked his plans for religious work. She had said she was going to finance his evangelistic endeavors, he declared.

At the hearing he admitted he had been paying court to a Seattle woman since he had filed the suit against Mrs. Kennedy.

Birkenhead Now Visiting New York

New York, Sept. 18.—The Earl of Birkenhead, former British Secretary of State for India, said to-day on his arrival here on the liner Olympic that "with good faith on both sides," a naval agreement between the United States and Great Britain should be possible.

Following conclusion of private business parleys here, Lord Birkenhead said he hoped to visit Canada for a few days. "That visit naturally will be on business," he said.

THOMAS SAYS TOUR WILL ADD TO BUSINESS

WHEAT DISCUSSED

"I have not asked Canada to take us things she produces here," but I did ask something on account of Britain being the largest buyer of wheat from the Dominion," Mr. Thomas went on.

Canada, he declared, had admitted the force of what he put forward.

AID OF CUSTOMERS

"Although, as I say, I shall meet the business organizations of this country, I shall say once again, as I did when I took office, that there can be no infallible unemployment remedy produced artificially. What we want for that are customers and these I have done my best to secure," Mr. Thomas added.

Mr. Thomas stressed his viewpoint that migration to the Dominions and relief of British unemployment were entirely separate questions.

"Migration and unemployment are quite apart and great harm is done when anybody tries to associate them," he said. "It conveys to the Dominions the idea we want to dump our chronic workless, and undesirable upon them."

STATEMENT IN COMMONS

"I discussed migration with the Canadian Cabinet, the Canadian Trades and Labor Council and many other agencies," I did make certain proposals, but I cannot say at the moment how they were received. I hope to make a statement in the House of Commons in due course on the point of continuing the government's old age and mother's pensions and similar schemes when those in receipt of them migrate to other parts of the Empire."

Mr. Thomas said, however, he could not anticipate any ideas which were in the minds of his colleagues.

Mr. Thomas left Liverpool, directly for London, where he will confer with Premier MacDonald.

Seattle, Sept. 18.—Stressing the necessity of greater unity on the Pacific Coast for the expansion of world trade, the delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council held their opening session here this forenoon.

Shippers, importers, exporters, manufacturers, agriculturists and transportation men made up the greater numbers of those who assembled for the conference. In addition, there were representatives from Canada and a dozen other nations and many United States Government officials, including commercial attaches and consular representatives of the Government stationed abroad.

F. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Reeve William Cronch of Saanich, are representing Victoria.

The convention programme covers the most advanced methods in shipping, packing, financing, credit granting, merchandising and advertising. Delegates were offered the trade adviser service of the United States Government in addition to discussions of trade problems by experts in the various lines of commercial activity.

The conference will continue for three days.

SURETY OF U.S. TRADE

Jefferson Myers of Portland, Ore., commissioner of the U.S. Shipping Board, speaking at the first session, said new life had been given American export business recent years by the United States Department of Commerce and the Shipping Board.

The contribution of the Department of Commerce, Myers said, was in surveying, studying, opening, developing and expanding foreign markets. In this work, he said, the department had assembled a mass of reliable information which was available to producers and exporters.

BIG RAILWAY MERGER IN U.S. NOW PLANNED

Washington, Sept. 18.—Permission to obtain control of sixteen railroads in eastern and New England states is sought from the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Delaware and Hudson Company to form a comprehensive terminal system for the north Atlantic seaboard. Application was made yesterday.

The proposed system would consist of 12,533 miles of line covering New England and parts of Canada, and extending as far south as Norfolk and as far west as Deepwater, West Virginia, and Pittsburgh Junction, Ohio. The aggregate investment on December 31 was $2,829,381,338. The largest railroad, in terms of mileage, which the Delaware and Hudson wishes to acquire is the New York, New Haven and Hartford, which operates 2,119 miles. The Boston and Maine ranks next with 2,100 miles. The Delaware and Hudson operates 845 of line in New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont. Six of the roads it is attempting to acquire have more mileage than the Delaware and Hudson.

GRANBY RAISES DIVIDEND TO $8

New York, Sept. 18.—Granby Mining and Smelting to-day declared a quarterly capital disbursement of $2 a share, placing the stock on an $8 annual basis, against $7 previously paid.

Nathan L. Master, chairman of the executive committee, stated that as the company has a large supply of cash on hand, much of which is loaned on the street, and in a corporation like the Granby that has nothing but common stock, stockholders in a period of prosperity and high market prices are entitled to a distribution of liberal proportions of the current earnings. Granby has now practically completed all its contemplated capital expenditures, so that its large cash reserves and current earnings should be available regularly for distribution, he said.

The dividend is payable November 1 to stock of record October 18.

TRADE CONFERENCE TOLD INCREASED U.S. TARIFFS WILL CUT DOWN EXPORTS

In New York, "Old World countries, particularly Great Britain, France and Germany, are far more formidable competitors for world trade to-day than a few years ago, as their manufacturers are adopting more aggressive methods and are modernizing their operations."

FIELD IN ASIA

"The potential purchasing power of Asia alone is so great that no one needs to figure what this market and the Orient will demand in the next decade or so," Mr. Howard said. "It is granted that their purchasing power now, individually, is not as great as that of some other countries, but it will grow in leaps and bounds as they are brought up to a higher living plane through better methods of agriculture transplanted from America, Canada and England."

He warned delegates against propaganda to disturb the goodwill between the United States and Canada, circulated, he said, by the jealous of close trade connections between the two countries.

GOOD NEWS FOR APPLE GROWERS

WHILE CERTAIN PUBLIC MEN recently were telling audiences in the west that salvation for the apple growers of the Okanagan Valley would be found only in a higher tariff on the foreign product, Premier Talmie was in the east persuading the railway companies to supply the real remedy for the situation in the shape of a reduction in freight rates. The Prime Minister now has returned to Victoria with an assurance from both the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company that the transportation charge on Okanagan apples for export will be reduced by twelve cents per hundred between the point of shipment and the Pacific Coast. At the new rate they will be on the same export basis as the apples of Yakima and Wenatchee, in the State of Washington.

There are many matters of policy upon which we do not agree with Dr. Talmie; but it is becoming increasingly obvious that there also is a considerable divergence of opinion on matters vital to British Columbia between the Premier of this province and Hon. R. B. Bennett. The leader of the opposition in the Dominion House has pretended to be solicitous for the welfare of the orchardists of the Okanagan Valley. His sincerity may be measured, however, by the fact that he persistently ignores the point in the case of the apple growers which goes to the heart of the question—this matter of freight rates. Dr. Talmie, in the meantime, went to the east, not to talk tariffs, but to put what he considered to be a good case before the railway companies—and he seems to have succeeded quite well.

The true measure of Mr. Bennett's concern for British Columbia's interests, of course, was plainly illustrated in the organized opposition which he and his party presented to the Sockeye Salmon Treaty. In spite of the fact that the Talmie Government, which was in possession of all the information relating to this proposal, in spite of the fact that it had caused every aspect of the document to be considered from every point of view, and had stamped the opinions it had received with its complete approval, the Federal leader of the opposition as good as told British Columbia's Premier and his colleagues that they did not know what they were talking about.

ONTARIO'S DEBT

WHATEVER PREMIER FERGUSON may think about it, there already are indications that the electors of Ontario have not been caught napping by his sudden springing of a general election after less than three years of office, and with a majority over all opposition of no less than forty-one in a Legislature of 112 members.

One of the important questions which the public of Canada's richest province has been studying for some time is the rapid growth of the provincial debt in the last fifteen years. It is being pointed out that when Sir James Whitney was in office in 1914, Ontario had a debt of $32,000,000, while the yearly interest bill was approximately $1,200,000. That debt of $32,000,000 has been increased in the meantime to one of $394,000,000, with a yearly interest charge increased from $1,200,000 to one of something in excess of $19,000,000.

It is not necessary to go back fifteen years to realize why the people of Ontario are especially concerned with their financial obligations. Although the biggest spending period in connection with the building of the Chippewa canal and provincial highways had passed when the Ferguson Government took office, the growth of the debt since 1923 is imposing evidence of the spending which has been going on. Here is the table:

	Provincial Debt	Yearly Interest
1923	$290,942,938	$13,510,708
1924	324,537,134	16,173,592
1925	324,923,473	17,238,175
1926	349,113,732	17,100,800
1927	356,919,772	17,676,201
1928	394,113,528	19,615,889

It will be seen from the above that the debt has been increased in the last five years at the rate of about $20,000,000 annually, with an interest bill increased from $13,510,708 to $19,615,889. On the debt question The Toronto Star observes:

The increase in the debt of the province during the lifetime of the present Administration is equivalent to the placing of a mortgage of $1,500 on every home in the province. Yet the Government is taking $4,000,000 a year profit from liquor consumers and is about to take an average of $20 more from each motorist in 1929 than it took in 1928—which was plenty.

The Ferguson Government likes to do things and have things done in a big way. It takes pride in the big administration palace it built, and it is pleased to see the party put on a huge banquet in the biggest hotel in the British Empire. Unfortunately for the people of this province, the characteristic of doing things in a large way clings to the Government when it makes additions to the public debt of Ontario.

As we pointed out yesterday, while the Government's handling of the system of liquor control will be discussed fairly extensively, other vital matters will take pride of place on the hustings this time. In respect of these questions, Premier Ferguson and his colleagues will have to deal with more than generalities.

OPENING NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA

ANOTHER SIGN OF THE NORTHERN trend of economic development in Canada is the great activity apparent at the present time in the northland of this province, to which very wide attention has been drawn. With the vigorous exploration and development of mineral resources in the northern sections of Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and even Alberta, it was inevitable that the promising area of central and northern British Columbia, where there has been mining activity for so long a period, should receive equal attention. The acquisition of the Canadian Northeastern Railway by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has apparently imparted the necessary stimulus, and now unprecedented industry is in evidence and significant developments forecast. Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, it will be recalled, recently made an exhaustive tour of the territory, and on his return expressed surprise at the intense activity he had witnessed, and predicted great developments for the near future.

The region has been waiting for some time for adequate recognition, and the purchase of the railway by such important interests, as well as the great power project undertaken by the Power Corporation of Canada at American Creek, have been all that was required to usher in a period of vigorous activity. According to all reports, the region about Stewart is being blanketed by prospectors, new claims being filed upon almost daily, with outside interests coming in as frequently to buy properties and take options. Great sums of money are pouring in from foreign sources and industry of all kinds, experiencing a briskness previously unknown and quite undreamed of a short while ago.

The extent of the mineral, timber and agricultural resources of this territory is far from determined yet, but sufficient economic survey work has been done to give the most optimistic expectations of what may follow in the way of adequate transportation facilities. At Groundhog, 129 miles from Stewart, lies a great deposit of anthracite coal, the extent of which is not known, but which is clearly tremendous. Beyond are what are declared to be some of the most highly mineralized sections of the entire north. In the Ingénica region it is stated that the interests which have secured the railroad have obtained definite results from exploration, and control large ore bodies to be developed. Towards the coast, in a radius of 100 miles from Stewart, lies what is stated to be one of the finest stands of spruce and hemlock in British Columbia. From Finlay River to the Alberta border is a fine agricultural country, it being claimed there are at least 200,000 acres of fine farming land, some carrying light timber, and much of it resembling prairie. Eventual reaching into this is a development which naturally suggests itself, but, although a general development is forecast for this territory in the manner of development being undertaken, it will apparently be predominantly a mining section for some time to come.

It is a further step in the economic conquest of the Canadian north, linking up with other provincial activities, outstandingly mining, to constitute an unbroken development across the Dominion from eastern Quebec to this coast. In the wake of this successful mining enterprise, it is already apparent, are coming many tributary activities foreshadowing the addition of a tremendous and varied wealth producing area to Canada. With almost startling suddenness the era of the Canadian north has dawned, and the promise is that the great northern tracts, somewhat insignificantly regarded in the past, will prove to be at least as rich as that longitudinal strip which has come to be known as the great producing section of Canada.

DR. TOLMIE'S PERSONAL STANDING

IT HAS BEEN CHARGED THAT THE Liberal Party and some disgruntled Conservatives have been indulging in a whispering campaign about Dr. Talmie's personal affairs.

The Liberal Party is not indulging in any such tactics. If such a campaign is in progress, it is being conducted by those Conservatives who for some time have made it so plain to the onlooker that there is a serious split in the ranks of their party. Although they differ from Dr. Talmie on public policy, and will continue to oppose him on those grounds, his political opponents have the highest respect for him personally. The Premier does not need any vindication of his character.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

LIGHTS ON HORSE-DRAWN VEHICLES

La Canada

There can be no doubt that if every farmer agreed to carry a light of some kind or other attached to the rear of his cart when he was on the main road, it would contribute to a greater degree of safety with evening traffic. It would be of particular assistance in certain cases of cars meeting when the headlights of an automobile coming in the opposite direction prevent, even when they are dimmed, one seeing the car which is directly in front of one's own car, and it is seen, often enough, too late.

CANADA'S WHEAT MARKET

The Sherbrooke Tribune

There is every indication that, whatever happens, Canada will keep for a long time its privileged position. The production of wheat is increasing at a greater rate than the population, which leaves a growing exportable surplus, whilst in the United States the exportable surplus for abroad is contracting year by year. Moreover, the cost of production is appreciably less in Canada than it is in the United States, and it will be still more reduced when mechanical processes are extended and become more perfect.

EDUCATION AND EXAMINATIONS

The Cape Town Cape Argus

The late President Wilson used to tell a story of a candidate at an examination who wrote indignantly: "This question is unfair; it requires thought." The candidate had no doubt been crammed in the approved fashion and was scandalized to find that more was required of him than a mere effort of memory. And yet it is obvious that the sort of knowledge which evaporates soon after the ink has dried on the examination paper is a very poor preparation for subsequent study or for the requirements of business life. If, therefore, it is difficult to see how examinations can be dispensed with altogether, it is clearly of importance that they should be so arranged that they will foster, and not hinder, the acquisition by the pupil of sound intellectual habits. Failing this result, a great part of the money spent on secondary education must be wasted and the majority of pupils will leave school destitute of the power of self-instruction and, therefore, singularly ill-prepared for the hard battle of life.

Loose Ends

A great joy comes to the American housewife, thanks to the Republican majority—they fix up the Malahat but nothing compares with the good old dirt road—if you carry a shovel—and from New York comes a new golf story.

By H. B. W.

AND STILL the great United States a tariff fight rages on and all eyes are focused upon Washington as the Senate comes to final grips with it. Rather than the mouthings of Congress one would prefer to hear the reactions of the unknown American housewife. Her joy at the new tariff, as at present drafted, must be really overwhelming. It is true that in budgeting for her family under the new bill she will have to pay more for milk, meat, butter and sugar, but then, on the other hand, the generous Republican majority has gallantly come to her aid and has put cutlery, fish bone and dried insects on the free list. Food, tableware, clothing, hats, soap and even shoelaces will cost the American housewife more, but what does she care? She can bring uncut diamonds and cyanide of potassium into the country without paying any duty at all. If the American housewife is budgeting for the construction of a new house she will have to include larger estimates for brick, cement and hardware, but thanks to the generosity of the Republican majority, she will pay no tariff whatever on waste rope and Gobelin tapestry. Which, as they say in the better classics, is a swell dish for the American housewife.

WHEN YOU drive over the Malahat these days a cheerful little man waves a red flag and makes you stop for a minute or two while a giant steam shovel disgorge its load of rock and earth and tree stumps into a waiting truck. They are busy up there trying to round off the hair-raising curves and jagged noses of the Malahat and make it into a modern highway. Much has been done already, but much more remains to be done, and built as it is on a series of sidehills, the Malahat will never be a speedway.

WHEN YOU recall the Malahat in 1924, when the gravel by mid-summer was a weird series of holes and bumps, when one drive over it was about all an ordinary car could stand, you realize what can be done to a road in a few years. But in that same time the demands of motorists have increased also, and what would have appeared a perfect highway to them is a poor job now. Thus, while it is immeasurably improved, the Malahat still leaves much to be desired in the mind of the modern motorist.

IN MANY places its surface has a peculiar roll like the waves of the sea, most disconcerting to the driver and likely to put the passengers in the rear seat through the top. In other places it slopes off from its central crown to each side like a pitched roof, and then again your right wheel will run into a hollow, while your left wheel is navigating a neat swelling in the black surface. That, of course, is the disadvantage of having to rebuild a road instead of doing it properly from the beginning. Where the new road is joined with the old there are bound to be difficulties. It will take a good deal of work to give the Malahat a real surface like parts of the Island Highway farther north, particularly up around Courtenay, which has the best country roads in British Columbia.

THE PUBLIC Works Department, which recently announced that all signs must disappear from highways, seems to be having trouble in carrying out this laudable programme. Its warning was followed in the case of the Malahat with the erection of more signs. It might be instructive to Mr. Lougheed, the present Minister of Public Works, to know what his predecessor, Dr. W. H. Sutherland, did under similar circumstances. When a series of signs appeared on the Cariboo Road he had them torn down and thrown into the Fraser River and in due course they floated out to sea. The Saanich Arm, with a great depth of water, is quite handy to the Malahat.

THERE is really nothing like a good old dirt road for comfort. You can have all your concrete paving and bituminous surfaces. Give me a dirt road in good weather. There are stretches of the old Cariboo Road like that, where you can hit it up to any speed you like and feel you are getting somewhere. On the concrete you can drive at sixty and feel you are standing still, for it is so smooth that it becomes utterly monotonous, like a railway journey.

UNFORTUNATELY, CIVILIZATION has got behind the dirt road. It won't stand modern traffic and, as you will find in the Cariboo or on the prairies, three minutes of rain

DOUBTHOPOR CHILDREN

To the Editor:—I think Dr. Calvert voices the sentiment of all right-thinking people in his letter in defence of the Doubthopor children.

I have lived in Canada forty-two years and have never before felt such an absolute shame for the country of my adoption as when I read of the attempt to subdue the parents by using the children as a sort of "vicarious atonement."

It would be hard to conceive of a more complete gesture of impotence in the way of law enforcement on the part of any government.

When we recognized the fact that the Doubthopors (whom we are pleased to regard as religious fanatics) are only carrying to their logical conclusion the tenets of the religions which is supposed to be the religion of Canada—and the principle of "non-resistance" and "non-participation in war" it means in effect that the Government says to these people—and to all of us—"We don't mind your being Christian, but don't carry it too far."

If the seizure of the children is to be allowed to stand as a precedent then any home where a father makes a generous provision against any law which he considers unjust may be broken up to bring him to his senses.

To my mind the question for us to decide right now is not "Are the Doubthopors right or wrong?" but "Are we going to punish them through the children?"

I say "No."

CONSERVATIVE REORGANIZATION

To the Editor:—The announcement in The Times that the Government has approved the application of the B.C. Electric Railway Company for Campbell River is news of a decision which was expected in May. Some of us hoped that these power sites would be held until the protection given by legislation on hydro-electric services in other provinces should be provided in British Columbia.

By refusing the legislation which has been asked for repeatedly by public bodies, and by alienating power sites under present conditions, the Government is serving financial interests at the expense of the public. The consequences of the lack of the protection which exists in other provinces have been seen in the shipping of ore for smelting from British Columbia to Tacoma, and in the loss of industries which require power at low rates. As the Government has fought against the principle of basing rates upon the actual cost of an undertaking, such industries face the handicap of paying rates high enough to provide dividends on watered stock.

Efforts have been made to hoodwink the public by declaring that a Public Utilities Commission was established last session, and there is evidence of a willingness to put our hydro-electric resources beyond the control of any provincial commission forever by letting them pass into the hands of companies which have Dominion charters. Such trickery is a menace to manufacturing and to Canada.

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Harpiece No Bigger Than Dime Wins Enthusiastic Following: Ten-Day Free Trial Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing-aid—the Canadian Acoustical Co., Dept. 383, 45, Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the recreation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no larger than a dime. Through this device, sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to abnormal ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. In those circumstances it is natural that demands for the reorganization of the Government should come from several quarters. It is obvious that we cannot endorse Mr. Bennett's policy of Canada for Canadians and at the same time support a Government which is driving Canadian industries and Canadian workers into the United States by playing cat-and-mouse with private interests.

Even those Conservatives who are content to follow the party standard blindfold and hand-in-hand with any political trickster know that a change of policy in this respect is necessary. And every intelligent Conservative should realize now that rebellion which is justified by abundant evidence of wrongdoing cannot be suppressed by

This Simple Test Will Reveal the Truth

A dash of ENO'S "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water morning or night for just one week... Note the change in your health, even in this short time.

New vigor... joyous, radiant good health and the ability to do a day's work without being tired... always follows.

Gently, surely and safely this non-habit-forming health beverage brings internal cleanliness... prevents intestinal absorption, that trouble-making condition that exists when poisonous waste matter is allowed to accumulate in the inner system.

Commence its use to-day. But remember, there's only one ENO'S "Fruit Salt". Resolutely refuse substitutes.

Major Johnstone Gets Alberni Post

Major James C. Johnstone, who has lately been with the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company, has been appointed district engineer for Alberni district under the Provincial Department of Public Works, it was announced to-day.

He was graduated from the Glasgow and West of Scotland Technical College, came to Canada in 1911, and took over the alterations of the Ladysmith sewerage system. Then he was district engineer at North Vancouver and later city engineer for Port Alberni, where he installed the water and electric light systems. In 1914 he located the trail to Gold River on the West Coast of this Island. He went overseas with the First Pioneer Battalion and at Ypres was recommended for a commission in 1916. He was wounded, and returned in 1919. Since the war he has been public works engineer, and on the Okanagan irrigation system under Water Comptroller Cleveland.

THE knowing hostess takes advantage of every opportunity to give individuality to her table.

She always makes her own salad dressings. She prefers to create her own desserts. And she makes her own mustard pickles.

In this way she can develop her own combination of vegetable ingredients—and be sure they are firm and fresh. She can use the purest of vinegars, peppers and spices. And, most important of all, she can give her pickles that superlative, indispensable tang of flavour imparted only by a real old English Mustard like COLMAN'S!

PICKLED BEANS
String a quart of a peck of tender green beans, throw them into a kettle of boiling water, add 1 teaspoonful salt and boil 25 minutes. When done drain in a colander, let stand until cold, then put into jars. Sprinkle lightly with cayenne, add one tablespoonful of Colman's Mustard, 1 tablespoonful chopped horseradish and cover the whole with strong cider vinegar.

Enlarged Departments More Daylight

On this, the eighth anniversary of our opening, customers will find a bigger and better store than ever. The new big section on the north-east corner has been completed. New departments have been added and present departments have been enlarged. The entire building shines with new paint inside and out—beautiful daylight everywhere, making selection of merchandise a pleasure.

The Ready-to-wear Department, on the second floor, has been extended and the fine new Art Needlework Department occupies a commanding position in the new section. Customers will be delighted with our China and Hardware Department, now on the third floor. We have doubled the capacity of the Fur Storage where the most modern refrigerating plant has been installed. This is the only cold air fur storage of its kind in Victoria. Further announcements of department changes and additions will be made in the near future.

CHURCH HONORS PIONEER WORKERS

—Photos by Victoria Studio.

REV. C. M. TATE AND MRS. TATE

First United Y.P.S.
Plan Corn Feed

"Before forks were invented, fingers were used," and that's the way corn on the cob will be handled by members of the Young Peoples' Department of the First United Church on Monday evening, September 23.

The winter programme of meetings and socials will commence with a real corn feed, followed by a social evening and the installation of officers for the coming season.

Under the able direction of the Rev. Bruce Gray, these young people have planned a fine programme and look forward to a record season. All young people are invited to join and bring a friend.

Lodge to Meet—Lodge Primrose, Alexander No. 18, Daughters of England, will hold its quarterly meeting on Thursday at 7.30 sharp. Members are asked to bring refreshments.

RECOGNIZE FINE
MISSIONARY WORK
AT PRESENTATION

Rev. C. M. and Mrs. Tate Are Honored By Metropolitan Gathering

Before a large audience in the Metropolitan Church last night, Rev. C. M. and Mrs. Tate, pioneer workers among the Indians of British Columbia, were honored on the jubilee of their marriage and of Mr. Tate's ordination to the ministry.

An illuminated address, eulogizing the work of the couple in uplifting the Indians was presented to them in addition to a handsome purse of gold, a great ovation greeted them when they rose to reply.

The presentation was sponsored by the United Church Social Union, the president, Rev. James Hood, presiding. The Scripture was read by Rev. S. J. Peet and Dr. G. A. Wilson led in prayer.

ADDRESS IS READ
Rev. W. G. Sippell read the address to the honored couple, and Dr. J. K. Unsworth expressed appreciation as a member of the former Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Tate was also presented with a handsome basket of flowers by Miss Edith Schofield on behalf of the International Order of Good Templars, of which she is a member.

Rev. Peter Kelly, Nanaimo, greeted the couple on behalf of the Indians of the Province, speaking of Mr. Tate's association with the founding of the Indian Rights' Association, which had resulted in the Federal Government setting aside $100,000 for promotion of their social welfare.

Mrs. Arthur Dowell contributed two vocal solos to the musical programme. The illuminated address read as follows:

Rev. Charles M. and Mrs. Tate:
Dear Brother and Sister:
It is with peculiar pleasure and with a sense of high privilege that a few of your many friends in Victoria, throughout the province take the opportunity afforded by this meeting of the Social Union to congratulate you both on having completed fifty years of splendid service in the Christian ministry. Reflection upon these years of service, chiefly given in deep devotion to the needs of the Indians of the province, reveals much that speaks not only of efficiency in that which has been accomplished, but also a special talent and unusual sacrifice in the interest of the aborigines of our Western land.

"You have labored in the Gospel of our Lord," translated that Gospel into the Indian's native tongue; taught them to "sing our Great Redeemer's praise," and founded by your personal effort and sacrifice one of the finest educational institutions for Indian children we have anywhere in our church. For all these multiplied labors in behalf of the Kingdom of God, we acknowledge our indebtedness to you both and assure you that a grateful church joins with us in such acknowledgments.

Moreover it is also our delight to congratulate you upon the approach of the jubilee of your married life in the coming month of October. The witness of your Christian lives and your Christian home through half a century of peace and concord, of love and sympathy, has been an inspiration and joy to multitudes that have been welcomed with such grace and gladness into your presence. We, with many others, stand within the blessed and kindly influence of your Christian fellowship, and we, with them, pray that your lives may be spared for years to come and that these years may bring much happiness and sweet reflections to you both.

When, however, the call to the higher life shall come, may it be to you both as though you had come to the end of a perfect day.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES HOOD, president.
S. S. PEAT, secretary.

GIRL SWIMMER
BECOMES BRIDE

Miss Gwen Bailey Wed to Ernest G. Cull at Qualicum

A well-known Victoria swimmer was the bride at an interesting wedding at St. Mark's Church, Qualicum Beach, on Monday, when Miss Gwen Bailey, the Y.W.C.A. star, became the bride of Ernest G. Cull of Santa Barbara, California. Rev. C. H. Popham officiating in the presence of a large gathering. Mrs. C. Davidson presided at the organ.

The church was very prettily decorated. The chancel rails and windows were draped with trails of climatic vines, while the flowers were Arum lilies and white asters.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a dress of powder blue, georgette, the flowing skirt falling to the ankles at the back. The picture hat to match was trimmed with silver ribbon and she carried a bouquet of Opheis roses and gladioli. She was attended by her two sisters as bridesmaids, Miss Dora Bailey and Miss Peggy Bailey in dresses of taffeta and tulle, one being in Nile green and the other coral. The brides were light-fitting with bouffant skirts embroidered in gold with tulle falling in points below. Their hats were large picture hats to match the dresses and they carried bouquets of dahlias. The bride's mother was attired in a dress of blue-beaded georgette with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and roses. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Ernest Erb of Victoria.

Following the service a buffet lunch was served at the bride's parents' home, when the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Dempster, Mr. Cull, Miss Hartley, Miss G. Andrews of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Roy of Duncan; Miss E. McLennan of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. Smythe, Miss Joie Hodgson and G. Hoare.

Later in the day the happy couple left for Campbell River, the bride traveling in a suit of almond green silk. After a few days' stay they will leave for Santa Barbara, where Mr. Cull holds a position. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a string of pearls, and to the bridesmaids strings of cut crystal beads, and to the best man a Morocco leather pocket book.

CATHOLIC WOMEN

Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Haswell and Mrs. Reid, will be held in the store next to the firehall on Cormorant Street. The bazaar, which is an annual event, will take place this year on November 23, 29 and 30, in the old Kindergarten of St. Ann's, Blanchard Street. The twenty-five-cent stall and plain sewing will be held in combination, and Mrs. Haswell has kindly offered her home for a silver tea in the near future, proceeds to be devoted to bazaar funds. Votes of sympathy were passed to Mrs. Fletcher in the loss of her brother, and to Miss Hollowell, who is ill from the effects of an accident in Vancouver.

Mrs. McManus spoke at some length upon the necessity of members of the league doing all in their power to discourage the reading of depressing and dangerous literature, and to spread the gospel of wholesomeness and cheer through the written word. Mrs. Hart of Ottawa was introduced by the president, and gave an interesting account of the work of the Junior League in Ottawa, of which she has been a very active member.

Rev. Father Evans, in thanking Mrs.

HOW OFTEN DO YOU BATHE?

YOUR body is constantly giving off perspiration—from one to two pints every 24 hours. This moisture dries so quickly that sometimes you do not realize its presence.

Health authorities everywhere say that, to preserve your own good health and self respect and out of consideration for others, this film of dried moisture should be washed off daily.

Gently, soothingly, Lifebuoy's creamy antiseptic lather washes away this film. It penetrates and cleanses the countless tiny pores of the skin—opens them up—lets them breathe—relaxes tired, tensed nerves and muscles, makes the world look brighter.

And more—Lifebuoy's antiseptic ingredient will stand guard as an invisible shield against infection.

Dry Weather Spoils Opening Of Hunting Season

THE SPORTS MEN'S MISTAKE

NATIONAL Hockey League managers and officials are scrambling around these days preparing for the training campaign, which will start in about a month. Several new managers have been announced while a number of new players have been either purchased or signed. Last season the N.H.L. experienced a most successful season in every way and the approaching one promises to be just as good if not better.

Colonel Jacob Hammond, of the New York Rangers, the team that is managed by Lester Patrick of this city, is apparently out to regain the world's championship and the Stanley Cup lost last year to Boston. He has announced the signing of nine Canadian amateurs. These players have been ordered to report to the Springfield Indians early next month. The Rangers will go to Springfield for their fall training with nearly forty players. Frank Carroll, of Toronto, will put them through their paces. While names were given out, it is known the Rangers have signed "Gonzo" McGowan, Hamilton's most brilliant hockeyist.

The Toronto Leafs will have all of last year's players, with the exception of the late "Shorty" Green, who was drowned this summer, and in addition they will introduce Hughie Platon, sensational University of Toronto "Grade" centre man, and Charlie Conacher, Marlboro Jr. star rightwinger, to professional ranks. Both should make the grade and add strength to an already powerful club.

From Montreal comes the report that Duncan Munro, recently elected manager of the Maroons, will play again, and that a coach will be employed. It is perhaps a good guess to say that Munro will hand over the tutoring reins to Jerry Lafamme, former Toronto Granite center, and one of the best informed men in hockey, amateur or professional.

The Boston Bruins, world's champions, who have about twenty players at their command, will be as strong as ever, and will take a lot of beating. Recently the Boston owners paid the $20,000 they owed the Toronto club for Bill Carson's services.

One of the many managers of Max Schmeling is Joe Jacobs, who is blacklisted in nine out of ten states. Yet Joe and his firm are collecting $11,400 of boxers' earnings during this month. Jacobs owns Eddie Kid Wagner, who received $1,200 for boxing Sammy Harris at Akron, September 19. He also is the manager of Frankie Gomez, who meets Jackie Sharkey at Minneapolis October 9. Genaro is guaranteed $3,000, of which Jacobs' share is one-third.

Jacobs also owns a third interest in Andre Rottis, who is to receive $30,000 for defending "his" featherweight title against Bat Battalino at Hartford, Conn., September 23.

Jacobs is in partnership with Billy McCarthy. That doesn't sound so bad for a couple of ostracized gentlemen.

In the approaching world series, a young man, who has been up and down between minors and majors more times than Texas Gulfman has been raided, is likely to play an unexpected part. The fellow we mean is Bevo LaBourne, whom Connie Mack recalled the other day from Milwaukee. Bevo is a great ball player, if you take the word of old Kid Elberfeld, who has looked over a lot of them, man and boy. During the years he has been following the game, Bevo has been eleven years in baseball, but never seems quite good enough to stay up. He's a wicked lad with the bat. Maybe Mack will use him as a pinch hitter against those nasty Chicago right-handers.

During the U.S. amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach, a well-set figure strolled here and there among the galleries, one of the crowd, though few knew him. The man was Jim Thorpe, the great Indian halfback, one of the greatest athletes of all time.

Thorpe walked through the crowded dining-room at the hotel. Not a head turned to look at him. He stopped at a table where newspapermen were seated and shook hands with a few who remembered his football exploits and his marvelous record in the Olympic games at Stockholm in 1912. Seventeen years make a whale of a difference.

George Lott Jr., the Chicago tennis star, regarded by many of the tennis experts as one of the game's coming champions, says he tries to keep his talk to himself during a battle on the courts. In a preview of a talkie picture, showing a tennis match at Newport, the reason was revealed the other day—Lott, when missing or dubbing a shot, let's go with a flock of longshoreman's comments that would grace the vocabulary of any dub golfer.

The ball goes into the net, and— "Well, I'll be etc., etc.," says Mr. Lott, and not always to himself. Lott was asked about it.

"It's unnatural to another your feelings whether you're playing for the national championship or just miss a subway," said he. "I try to talk to myself when I'm displaced, but don't always succeed."

Lott believes the United States will soon regain the Davis Cup. He bases this on the expectation that the American team next year will be composed of young players.

Lacoste, with a cold that threatens to become chronic, he believes is through. Lott regards Australia as the coming threat. All that is needed by the Aussies, he says, is a capable partner for Jack Crawford, Tilden and Hunter, he says, have proven their inability.

Lack of Rainfall Makes Deer and Bird Sport Poor

With Woods Dry as Tinder Deer Are Hard to Track, While Dogs Are Unable to Catch Bird Scent; Deer Reported Plentiful and Many Killings Expected After Rainfall; 220-pound Buck Is Killed in Goldstream District by A. E. Smith.

Dry weather conditions caused a disappointing opening of the hunting season over the week-end, according to reports from Victoria hunters after the first days in the woods. Until the Island experiences a good rainfall there is little chance of sport improving. The woods are dry as tinder, making the going difficult for both hunters and dogs. But in spite of adverse conditions a number of hunters have been able to secure good bags.

Distraction Runs Well to Win Handicap

Wheatley Stable's Entry in Right Mood and Whips Classy Field at Aqueduct

Mad Kiss Graduates From Maiden Ranks; Rolled Stockings Wins Again

New York, Sept. 18.—"Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, veteran trainer for the Wheatley stable, yesterday won the opening tilt in the battle for stake honors at Aqueduct when he sent out Distraction to win the Bay Shore handicap, the feature of the opening day at the Long Island track.

In defeating the Arden Farm's Sun Edwin, the favorite, and five other classy veteran runners, Distraction ran one of the best races of his career. Going into the long stretch, the son of Chiclé was running up near the front. A chuckle from Jockey Jimmy Burke and he drew away to win by live lengths from Sun Edwin. Eddie Ahearn was third, four lengths back of Distraction.

Mad Kiss graduates from the ranks of maidens yesterday in the seven furlong sprint, which was won $3,450 to the winner.

Going into the long stretch, the son of Chiclé was running up near the front. A chuckle from Jockey Jimmy Burke and he drew away to win by live lengths from Sun Edwin. Eddie Ahearn was third, four lengths back of Distraction.

Rolling Stockings, the five-year-old star owned by J. W. Parrish, again showed his liking for the sprint distance as he won the Victoria Hotel purse with ease at Lincoln Fields. The race was seven furlongs, and timed 1:24 3-5. J. R. Thompson's Minotaur was five lengths ahead for the place, but eight lengths in front of Flattery, from P. Goose's stable.

It was the intention of the city to prepare one or two sports grounds each year in places of the places now in use, with the object of providing a sufficiency of grounds for the various games played here. It was stated by Alderman John Harvey, chairman of the parks committee yesterday.

Good progress has been made with the improvement of the Heywood Avenue site, he said, and grass will be sown later in the year. The ground will be fully fenced, and will be graded, drained and ploughed before seeding to grass.

MacCubbin had charge of installing the electrical plant at Nicola for Major C. S. Goodman of England. He is survived by a widow, four children and a brother.

Canadians May Join National Boxing Body

Will Be Able to Hold Offices With Voting Powers in Famous Association

Control Boxing in Thirty-one States in U.S.; Mickey Walker on Carpet

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Canadian boxing commissions may henceforth join the National Boxing Association, with full voting powers and are privileged to nominate their own candidates for executive office in the parent organization. The constitution of the N.B.A. was amended to provide for this change at a meeting of the commissioners here yesterday.

Heretofore, only Americans could hold office in the organization. The change was brought about as the result of an application by E. W. Ferguson of Montreal, who headed the Canadian delegation. The National Boxing Association, which governs the sport in thirty-one United States states, took drastic action against Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion since 1926.

Walker was deprived of his title by the commissioners because of his failure to defend it in compliance with the ruling requiring a champion to defend his crown at least once every six months. He was charged with repeatedly failing to observe the extensions granted him. The commission listed a number of challengers, naming Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, as the leading member of the division, with Rene Devos and Harry Ebbs of Brooklyn ranking second and third, respectively.

Walker's last defence of the middleweight championship was made in Chicago in June, 1928, when he won a decision from Hudkins.

TOWNSEND'S CLEVERNESS WINS BOUT

Vancouver Fighter Shows Ring Knowledge to Win Decision Over Doc Snell

Townsend Lands Much Clearer Punches; Snell Tried Hard For Knockout

Seattle, Sept. 18.—Billy Townsend, blond-haired Vancouver youngster, fought his way to a six-round decision over Doc Snell in the main event of Nate Drumm's ring show at the Ice arena last night. At the end of four rounds of milling it appeared as though Billy was just going to coast in a winner. But the old doctor snapped out of a slump in the fifth session to win it as he pleased and gave out as much, if not more than he took in the last stanza.

Townsend was a mighty tired youngster in the fifth round and when the bell rang in the sixth he had few snappy wallops left in his system. Snell was in there roughing things up all the time and swinging lustily with his old right flipper. But Townsend was wily. He stayed inside those wallops most of the time and when he got in there, he stayed in as long as the referee would let him, which is exactly the right way to box Snell.

Snell tore out of his corner with a right swing at Townsend's body and then let loose with a terrific left to his head. Townsend was watching for just such a ruse and ducked out of the way. From then on Snell continued his famous swinging tactics but Townsend was too clever for him. On virtually every miss by Snell, Townsend had a clear opening for a left or right and usually took advantage of it.

The Seattle slugger made a vain effort to win the fight in the last round by a knockout, but Townsend best him to most of his swings and punished Snell severely.

On one occasion Snell made one of his bullish attacks at Townsend and landed clear outside the ropes. The Vancouver ace sidestepped Snell to miss him look foolish.

In the semi-final match Willard Dix won a decision over Johnny Near, of the U.S.C. California. They are middleweights. Joe Townsend, brother of Billy, defeated Willie O'Brien, Tacoma, in the opener.

Favorites Find Going to Liking In Titular Golf

Leading Players Win First Round Matches in Annual Women's Championship at Oak Bay; Number of Close Matches Seen; Mrs. B. R. Philbrick at Top of Form Being Picked as One of Finalists; Marjorie Todd, Fourteen-year-old Competitor, Remains in Running.

Playing the steadiest golf of her career Mrs. B. R. Philbrick of the Victoria Golf Club, Monday's medalist, advanced in the first round of match play of the women's city golf-championship yesterday at the Oak Bay course by taking her clubmate, Mrs. Walter Parry, into camp, 5 and 4. Mrs. Philbrick is being picked as a certain finalist. On Monday, in the eighteen-hole qualifying round, she had a score of 79 and yesterday she was just one stroke more.

All of the favorites came through in the opening round, but in several matches they were extended to the limit in order to win. Although the weather conditions were not of the best, owing to a heavy wind, besides fog in the afternoon, the calibre of golf was decidedly good.

In the match between Mrs. Philbrick and Mrs. Parry the former was two up at the end of the first nine. From this stage on Mrs. Philbrick gradually increased her lead, the matching ending on the fourteenth green.

A FINE MATCH
One of the best matches of the day was between Mrs. K. C. Allen and Mrs. Alex. Watson, both of the Oak Bay Club. Mrs. Watson carried her opponent to the eighteenth green before going down to defeat. Mrs. Allen managed to gain a three-hole lead on rounding the turn. Mrs. Watson fought back on the home nine and succeeded in cutting her opponent's lead to one up at the seventeenth. The last hole was halved to give Mrs. Allen her victory.

Mrs. Forbes Wilson was forced to stage a great rally to win from Mrs. E. E. Watson, 2 and 1. At the halfway mark Mrs. Wilson was one down. At the twelfth Mrs. Watson became one up. Mrs. Wilson captured the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth, to become one-up. The sixteenth was halved, with Mrs. Wilson winning the seventeenth to end the match.

YOUNGSTER WINS
Miss Marjorie Todd, fourteen-year-old player, continued to display splendid form to reach the eighth round as a result of her 7 and 5 victory over Mrs. H. F. Crowe.

Mrs. Jackson, one of the main hopes from the Uplands Club, had quite a struggle with Mrs. Morrell, but finally won on the seventeenth hole.

Mrs. Hutchinson disposed of Miss Mary Campbell, of tennis fame, 3 and 2, while Mrs. Wilding, a former title holder, found no trouble in defeating Mrs. Macfarlane, 7 and 6. Mrs. Godfrey of Oak Bay was another early winner, defeating Miss Pitts 5 and 4.

In the various flights the matches were close, with the favorites winning out.

Yesterday's complete results follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP
Mrs. Philbrick defeated Mrs. Parry, 5 and 4.
Mrs. K. C. Allen defeated Mrs. Alex. Watson, 1 up.
Mrs. Godfrey defeated Miss Pitts, 5 and 4.
Mrs. Jackson defeated Mrs. Morrell, 2 and 1.
Mrs. F. F. Wilson defeated Mrs. E. E. Watson, 2 and 1.
Mrs. Wilding defeated Mrs. Macfarlane, 7 and 6.
Mrs. Hutchinson defeated Miss M. Campbell, 3 and 2.
Miss M. Todd defeated Mrs. Crowe, 7 and 5.

SECOND FLIGHT
Miss Carey defeated Mrs. Hepburn, 6 and 5.
Miss H. Wilson defeated Mrs. Sample, 2 and 1.
Miss Benson defeated Mrs. Price, 6 and 5.
Miss Eve defeated Mrs. J. Gray, 6 and 5.

THIRD FLIGHT
Mrs. Richardson won from Mrs. McKenzie, by default.
Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson defeated Mrs. Ellis, 2 and 1.
Mrs. E. M. Bouvier, Ottawa, defeated Mrs. W. M. Carmichael, 4 and 3.
Mrs. Barber-Starkey defeated Miss Hutchinson, 1 up.

FOURTH FLIGHT
Miss N. Wilson defeated Miss McBride, 2 and 1.
Mrs. Geiger defeated Mrs. Hall, 5 and 4.

Decision Boxing Bouts Will Be Allowed in State
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 18.—Emery Cabana, French Canadian of Sanford, Maine, won a close decision here last night over Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., former world's featherweight champion. They fought ten rounds. Cabana weighed 154 lbs.; Kaplan 154.

Close Decision
Townsend's smartness and cleanness hitting won him the decision, but not by any long margin. Snell was willing but has yet to swing back into the stride that made him so formidable before going up against old man appendicitis.

Snell tore out of his corner with a right swing at Townsend's body and then let loose with a terrific left to his head. Townsend was watching for just such a ruse and ducked out of the way. From then on Snell continued his famous swinging tactics but Townsend was too clever for him. On virtually every miss by Snell, Townsend had a clear opening for a left or right and usually took advantage of it.

The Seattle slugger made a vain effort to win the fight in the last round by a knockout, but Townsend best him to most of his swings and punished Snell severely.

On one occasion Snell made one of his bullish attacks at Townsend and landed clear outside the ropes. The Vancouver ace sidestepped Snell to miss him look foolish.

In the semi-final match Willard Dix won a decision over Johnny Near, of the U.S.C. California. They are middleweights. Joe Townsend, brother of Billy, defeated Willie O'Brien, Tacoma, in the opener.

Lone Entry From West Is Defeated In Canadian Golf
Toronto, Sept. 18.—Mrs. F. Riddout of Red Lake, Ontario, was the lone entrant from the west in the Canadian women's golf competition, was eliminated yesterday in the first round of match play. She was defeated by Miss Miriam Kinley of the Toronto Golf Club, 2 up. Winnipeg's representation was split yesterday with the elimination of Mrs. B. K. Bearsto by a margin of four and three at the hands of Mrs. S. G. Bennett, Toronto.

The same score marked the victory of Winnipeg's other entrant, Mrs. B. P. Pelletier, who won brilliantly over Mrs. E. M. Bouvier, Ottawa. Some of the victories were achieved by big margins. Mrs. F. Mulqueen, Toronto, a former champion, winning 8 and 7, while Mrs. Douglas Weld, Toronto, advanced by the same score. Miss H. Bright, Welland, Monday's medalist, won 7 and 5, and Miss Ada McKenzie, defending champion, accounted for Mrs. A. Clarke of Lakeshore, Toronto, 7 and 5.

Failure of Pitchers Beginning to Worry Cubs

Robins Assault Chicago Hurlers For Double Win

Carlson, Cvangros, Blake, Malone, Nehf and Bush Batted All Over Lot by Robin Sluggers; Pirates Rally to Win From Phillies and Remain in Race; Boston and Washington Win Games in American; Many Double-headers To-day.

The long-awaited clinching of the pennant by the Chicago Cubs was delayed again yesterday when Brooklyn twice rallied to win both halves of a double-header in Chicago as the Pittsburgh Pirates came from behind to pull out the decision in their own game against the Phillies. One Cub victory, or one Pirate defeat will end it, but the Cubs have been looking for that one game since Sunday night. They will try again to-day against the New York Giants, with Boston arrayed against the Pirates.

The loss of the two games to Brooklyn was of no moment, however, to Joseph V. McCarthy, but he did have cause for any amount of apprehension he felt over the rough manner in which his pitchers were handled. In the first game, Carlson permitted the Robins to run up a lead of 6 to 0 in a single inning, the third, and the Cubs made it close only because Dazy Vance had one of his worst days of the season. The Robins assaulted the strikeout king for three runs in the fourth and for four more in the fifth, and approached to within one hit of the pennant only to see Eddie Moore single with the bases filled in the ninth to give the Robins an 8-7 decision.

Mike Cvangros took over the pitching after Carlson had been flattened, but himself gave way to Sheriff Blake just before Moore delivered his winning blow. The defeat was charged to Mike as he put the men on base.

KNOCKED FROM BOX

Guy Bush was knocked from the box by five Robins runs in the first half of the nightcap, and Hal Carey, son, gave way to a pinch batsman in the second.

The seventh when the Cubs pulled up to a tie, Art Nehf was hit in the eighth, and Pat Malone rushed to the rescue, only to deliver a home run ball to Babe Herman, with the bases filled. The Cubs picked up one more in the ninth but the Robins won by 9-6.

Dazy Vance received credit for the opening victory although Johnny Morrison pitched the ninth inning, for him. Morrison rescued Ray Moss in the second clash, and got credit for the victory. The Pirates defeated the Phillies in the gateway game by 11-7, and did it on eleven hits against sixteen pined up by the Phils. The Bucaneros won on a big seventh inning which saw eight Pirate runs chased home on four singles intelligently mixed with four passes, a wild pitch and a fielders choice.

Burleigh Grimes was driven from the box in the first round while the Pirates were engaged in the serious business of piling up four runs, and Ray French got the victory. Harry Smythe, the prominent rookie south-paw, absorbed the defeat.

The remaining National League clubs were idle, due to the manufactured double-headers in St. Louis and Cincinnati last Sunday.

MANY DOUBLE-HEADERS

Rain in New York gave Edward Grant Barrow a chance to build up a banner with the Indians for this afternoon, but moisture at Shibe Park sent one Philadelphia contest permanently into the discard. The St. Louis Browns were to have met the A's in a double bill and only one of the games can be played off in a double barreled affair this afternoon.

The Boston Red Sox gave young Ed Walsh, of Chicago, a bad afternoon to win 6-4, and Washington won the opener from Detroit 4-1. Rain broke up the second game.

Manager Conacher —By Jimmy Thompson

"Big Train," Lionel Conacher, idol of Canadian hockey and rugby fans, has been given the job of playing manager of the New York Americans. This move of the Americans is a real tribute to one of Canada's finest all-round athletes. Last winter rumors were going around that Lionel was going to put on the gloves and join the leather-pushers' brigade, but he denied them. Just the same, the big boy can use his dukes, as can testify numerous puckchasers who bumped into him (accidentally-on-purpose), during the games last season. Conacher is a product of the Aura Lee Junior O.H.A. club of Toronto. He was also a member of the Toronto Canoe Club, Dominion Junior, Champions of 1920. His professional hockey career has been confined to Pittsburgh and New York. He is a good player, knows hockey from every angle, and should be a big success in the "Big Town," enjoying the confidence of the players as few managers do.

SETTLING THE POINT IN GOLF

A player is entitled at any time during the play of a hole to ascertain from his opponent the number of strokes the latter has played. If the opponent gives wrong information as to the number of strokes he has played, he shall lose the hole unless he correct his mistake before the player has played another stroke. In-stroke competition the penalty is disqualification.

Monthly Medal Competitions To Start at Oak Bay

Members of the Victoria Golf Club will open play Sunday in the first of six monthly medal competitions to be staged throughout the winter. All contests will be played over eighteen holes with medal and match rules being observed alternately. At the end of the series the six winners will play off over thirty-six holes, under match regulations, for the championship of the season.

An entrance fee of 50 cents will be charged all entrants. Two prizes will be presented after each contest and post entries will be received. Competitors may choose their own starting times and opponents.

White Sox to Step Up Again Says Comiskey

Seventy-year-old Owner Declares He Will Supervise Rebuilding of Club

Will Seek Number of Youngsters; Many Changes to Be Made in Team

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The Tribune, in a copyrighted story yesterday, quoted Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, as declaring he personally would assume responsibility for rebuilding the club in such a way that it would be "up there" among the leaders next season.

Comiskey, who is seventy years old, has been in poor health for three years. Most of this summer he has been at his Eagle River, Wis., camp and he told The Tribune reporter that he now feels able to take an active part in developing his ball club.

He declined to discuss the question of management. "It is sufficient to say there will be many changes in our personnel before the opening of next season," he stated.

AFTER YOUNGSTERS

"I shall continue the policy of acquiring young ball players, but I proposed to get at least two experienced hitters. The youngsters lack the punch the White Sox need."

"I'll live to see my ball club up there again. It's a hard job to build a pennant winner. I am the sole owner of the White Sox and will be as long as I am on this earth, so the fans needn't be looking around speculating who's going to rebuild the team."

"Ten years ago this fall my ball club, the greatest club ever assembled so far as playing ability was concerned, brought Chicago its last pennant. That team, or the eight crooks who were on it, gave me the worst shock that ever a man suffered in baseball. The years haven't healed the wounds completely, but I've suffered long enough. I'm coming back to Chicago to start in on a lot of new happiness."

At the end of play yesterday the scores were: The Rest, 319 and 283; Nottingham, 204 and 99 for one wicket. The county require 156 to give them victory. ROOSEVELTS PRESENT RARE PANDA SKIN TO MUSEUM

JUST THE SAME

Sir Thomas Lipton, merchant and international yachtsman, does not change much with the passage of years. Here he is, photographed on the deck of the Levathan as he landed in New York the other day, looking just as he always looked—the same cap, the same little goatee, the same polka-dot tie and turned down collar, and the same expression of genial good nature on his face.

LET THE EYE JUDGE

When playing a strange course I never look at a score card except to matter of curiosity to see what the par is, or how many three shot holes there are. It is far better to approach each shot with an open mind, ready to play the hole as it is, than to view the length of the shot appears to be. On a blind hole, of course, there is nothing to see and one is apt to be wrong, but on the ordinary lay where everything is in plain view the eye is the most accurate aid we can have.

Every player should cultivate the habit of playing solely from the ball to the hole without a thought given to the distance from the tee, or to the number yards he has to go. To attain a great proficiency requires practice, of course, but it is the only way in which the variable conditions of a golf course can be met.

Alekhine Regains Lead In World's Chess Championship

Wiesbaden, Germany, Sept. 18.—Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris, world's chess champion, yesterday defeated E. D. Bogoljubow, his German challenger, in the seventh game of their championship chess match. Bogoljubow resigned at the thirty-fifth move. The victory placed Alekhine again in the lead in the series. He has won three, lost two and tied two matches. The players will rest to-morrow.

Any Way Out

A man who shot and wounded a saxophone player one night pleaded that he thought it was a cat. "But you mustn't even shoot a cat," said the magistrate. "I thought this one was very ill," pleaded the man.

That's Settled

Auntie was entertaining her two nephews. Putting out two pieces of cake, one much larger than the other, she said: "Now I want to see which of you has the better manners." "Oh, Jimmy has!" said Johnny, as he grabbed the big piece.

Bobby Jones On Golf

It is the strangest thing, to the ordinary club member, that a visiting professional can play upon a course he has never seen before and beat par. I have heard them say time after time "What could this fellow do if he played here regularly?" I heard them say that after Leo Diegel played the Louisville Country Club in sixty-five. They don't believe that Diegel could not play the course every time just that well, or, which would more likely be the case, that he could play every day for months without once doing as well.

To the average player who plays almost all of his golf on one course, rarely playing away from home, or at least not enough for him to give serious attention to his problem, it is mystifying to be dropped upon an unfamiliar terrain with no familiar landmarks to give him his bearings. Usually he can be depended on to add at least five or six strokes to what would otherwise be his normal score. He seldom knows what club to use, or how hard to hit the ball, and if he requests information he doesn't quite trust it. His whole attitude is one of uncertainty, sure producer of tension.

BIGGEST HANDICAP

Now, if the average club member had opportunities for playing more on courses with respect to landmarks, there is no question that he would play a better game at home. The one difficulty which troubles him abroad and which he recognizes is his inability to correctly estimate the distances. And that is exactly his biggest handicap at home although there he doesn't appreciate it as such.

Countless times due to an unusually heavy breeze or some other change in conditions, I have seen the men with whom I play misjudge a shot by many yards. The expression of honest amazement when a well hit shot does not do it is something and the fact that the error was not one of hitting does not help the score very much.

The great trouble with the one course golfer is that he habitually gets his bearings by calculating his position with respect to landmarks—so far beyond a certain tree, or so far from the crest of a hill. And when he plays a strange course he looks too much at the distances on the card to estimate his position.

Suppose someone told you to step out on a polo field and hit a golf ball exactly 150 yards—how could you do it? You would probably select a mashie because it is popularly supposed that an ordinary mashie shot will travel about 150 yards. But when playing to a green 150 yards away you must not go 135 or 165 yards. If you do you get into trouble. And if you always play the same shot for the 150 yard distance, an error of fifteen yards either way for any sort of breeze is a small allowance.

When playing a strange course I never look at a score card except to matter of curiosity to see what the par is, or how many three shot holes there are. It is far better to approach each shot with an open mind, ready to play the hole as it is, than to view the length of the shot appears to be. On a blind hole, of course, there is nothing to see and one is apt to be wrong, but on the ordinary lay where everything is in plain view the eye is the most accurate aid we can have.

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Strict Diets Often Unnecessary

It is a well-known fact that some foods have a strong tendency to produce excessive stomach acidity and consequent indigestion. By omitting from daily meals those foods that excite excessive acidity and thus limiting the diet to certain tasteless unappetizing foods, stomach troubles may in many instances, be slowly overcome. Nine times in ten, however, indigestion, gas, etc. are due to excessive acidity and the premature souring of food in the stomach. Keep the stomach clean and sweet by treating it with this daily remedy. Thousands of people do this daily by merely taking after every meal a little Bismarck-Magnesia, which can be had at any good drug store in either powder or tablet form. Bismarck-Magnesia stops food fermentation and meals digest as naturally and pleasantly as in the stomach of a healthy child. Stomach comfort means a lot and most folks like good things to eat. Enjoy them both by making Bismarck-Magnesia your daily after-eating protection. (Adv.)

Strength After Childbirth

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was not able to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since if I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation."

BEWARE OF DIETS WITHOUT BULK

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Protect You

People are more careful than ever before about diet. They diet to clear complexions. They avoid certain foods to stay thin. They eat others to get fat. But many are running a serious danger because they are missing the "roughage" or "bulk" foods that every person must have to keep well.

As a result, constipation gets in its deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, circled eyes are only the first symptoms. In the end, constipation ruins health, wrecks beauty and may cause serious disease.

Don't neglect your daily roughage. That is nature's rule. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply it. A healthful cereal to eat each day. To use in cooked dishes or to serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—to prevent it. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining cars. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

TELLS STORY OF ASTROLOGY

Prof. A. Pannekoek Addresses Local Branch of Royal Astronomical Society

Professor A. Pannekoek of the University of Amsterdam last night lectured before the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at Victoria College on "Astrology, Its Influence on the Development of Astronomy."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. C. S. Beale, who occupied the chair in the unavoidable absence of Dr. J. A. Pearce, president of the Victoria Centre.

In giving the origin of astronomy, Professor Pannekoek said that the reason why men first studied the stars was not so much for their beauty as the call of two fundamental necessities.

The first of these was that of orientation, when for purposes of commerce they had to travel over trackless deserts and uncharted seas with the stars for their only guide.

The second necessity, he pointed out, was that of some adequate form of chronology which would indicate the proper times for seeding and reaping the harvest by the appearance and disappearance of certain stars.

This marked the beginning of the making of the calendar. It was natural that the lunar months should first come under observation and it was no less natural, said the speaker, that moon worship should follow.

Social, political and religious ceremonies came to be governed by this form of time measurement, and it was therefore found to be imperative that the calendar should be exact and adapted to these requirements. To reconcile the monthly moon reckoning it was later found necessary to introduce the twelve-month system.

The desire to place astronomy on a higher and more widely useful scale developed with more advanced form of civilization.

It was this desire that gave birth to the science of astrology, a study of the relation of the movements of the heavenly bodies to the fate of mankind, which transported astronomy from the realms of a useful science to those of doctrine.

Astronomy was described by the professor as the most ancient of all the natural sciences, and it had become closely interwoven with the science of history.

Modern writers, he said, were in the habit of regarding the science of astrology as a regrettable aberration of the human mind, whereas, in reality, it was the forerunner to the doctrine of the influence of the heavenly bodies upon earth and mankind, and prepared the way for modern astronomical research.

SCOTSMEN HONOR NOTED ARTISTS

Mrs. Kennedy Fraser and Sister-Guests at Reception Last Night

With traditional Gaelic hospitality, members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, the Burns Club and the Knights of the Thistle, joined in an enthusiastic welcome to Mrs. Marjorie Kennedy-Fraser and her sister, Miss Margaret Kennedy, the famous exponent of songs of the Hebrides, at a reception given in their honor last evening. The affair was held in the B. C. Dramatic School, by kind invitation of Major Bullock-Webster, the accommodation of the auditorium being used to the utmost.

WERE PIPED IN
Piper Pollock met the visitors at the entrance and piped them in to the auditorium, this traditional Scottish greeting being supplemented by formal salutations from the presiding officers. Highland dances were given by Miss Maryon Peterson (Highland fling), Miss Madge Wallace (sword dance), Miss Adeline Grant (Sean Triubhas), and the pipers were Pipe Major Don Cameron, Piper Pollock and Miss Lillian Grant. Miss Lillian Grant, who is only eight years old, is the youngest player of pipes in Western Canada, and was given a vociferous welcome. "The Reel of Tulloch" was danced by the Misses Maryon Peterson, Sadie Gemmell, Adeline Grant and Madge Wallace.

The greetings of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society were extended by Mr. William White, the president, of the Knights and Dames of the Thistle by Mr. James Carmichael, and of the Burns Club by Mr. John Howie. Mr. Howie recalled having heard the guests of honor in recital in Scotland over twenty years ago, and expressed his pride in being present on that as on the present occasion.

GUESTS REPLY
In replying to the greetings Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser told in a very charming way about her work and the delightful friends which it had brought her through the different authors and musicians it had given her contact with. She also gave a few intimate little pictures of "The Isles" where she had gathered from old fisherfolk and others the airs found in her collections of "Songs of the Hebrides."

The closing episode of the evening was the presentation to Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser and her sister of bouquets of flowers, given on behalf of the three Scottish societies by Mr. J. S. Sparks. Mr. W. White was in the chair, and during the evening refreshments were served.

VERY LITTLE ROOM, BUT ANNE WENT ALONG

Lindy had an urgent job of flying to do, and Anne was not going to sit safely at home while her birdman husband dashed almost across the continent to aid in the search for the lost sky liner, City of San Francisco. For the sake of speed, they borrowed the special Lockheed-Vega plane, shown at the top, in which Captain Frank Hawkes made his transcontinental flight records. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh are pictured, lower right, at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, and the arrows show their respective places in the ship during their swift westward flight. Lindy occupied the pilot's open cockpit, but his wife sat in the tiny forward cabin, perched on her parachute pack and squeezed in between extra fuel tanks, luggage and camping equipment—a hazardous situation in case any accident occurred. Lower left you see Captain Hawkes and Colonel Lindbergh, the latter seated in the cockpit just before the take-off from Roosevelt Field.

SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Winter Programme of St. George Group Is Outbreak at Gathering.

A fine programme was enjoyed by members of the Royal Society of St. George last evening in Amphion Hall. The meeting was the first of the season, and there was an excellent turnout.

Songs were contributed by Miss Dorothy Pearson, Mrs. Mayell Geo. Guy, Percy Edmonds and Fred Wright; a monologue by Mrs. Roseboom and a pianoforte solo by Miss Bonshor, while the orchestra of the society rendered several numbers. Radio selections, through the courtesy of the Radio Shop, representing Big Ben and cathedral chiming of St. Margaret's, Westminster, were greatly appreciated. The accompanists were Edward Parsons and Mrs. Harry Langley.

The president of the society, Harry Langley, occupied the chair, and in the course of his remarks outlined the season's programme, which promises to be one of the best in the history of the organization. It was announced that the United and Schubert choirs would give programmes during the season.

A number of illustrated lectures by eminent people have been arranged. A vote of thanks to the artists, and to the president and Mrs. Langley, was proposed by H. E. Bishop and seconded by W. J. Keen. Thanks were also tendered to the ladies for the artistic decorations and handling of catering arrangements.

Wheat Shippers In Canada Interested In U.S. Senate Debate

Washington, Sept. 18.—The practice of importing Canadian wheat into the United States in bond for mixing purposes and subsequent export as flour to Cuba, under the preferential agreement with that country, was under critical examination during the course of the tariff debate in the Senate yesterday. When Chairman Smoot of the finance committee moved to strike out the provision by which the Buffalo flour mills would be restrained from shipping flour ground from Canadian wheat to Cuba and receiving the benefit of the thirty per cent preferential allowed United States imports, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, obtained an agreement to postpone the debate on the motion.

The tariff preference granted our products by Cuba, Senator Capper said in a statement last night, "is in return for the same treatment by us with respect to their sugar, fruit and other products. It was never intended to let Canadian products into Cuba by way of the Buffalo flour mills."

New Westminster Elevator Subject Of Legal Action

An action over the financing of the New Westminster grain elevator, built on the Fraser River by the New Westminster Harbor Commissioners, was launched in the Supreme Court here yesterday afternoon by E. H. M. Foot on behalf of the Municipal Debenture Corporation Limited of Quebec.

The endorsement of the writ asked for $24,500 damages for alleged breach of contract in regard to the underwriting of the issue of $700,000 in bonds, $4,000 in legal fees and disbursements, and $21,000 in respect to cash advances made on behalf of the plaintiff corporation and other relief. Alternately the plaintiff firm seeks specific performance of contract, as alleged to be contained in agreements of September and November, 1927.

The New Westminster Harbor Commissioners are named as defendants.

To Start Work On Power Line In Sooke Area

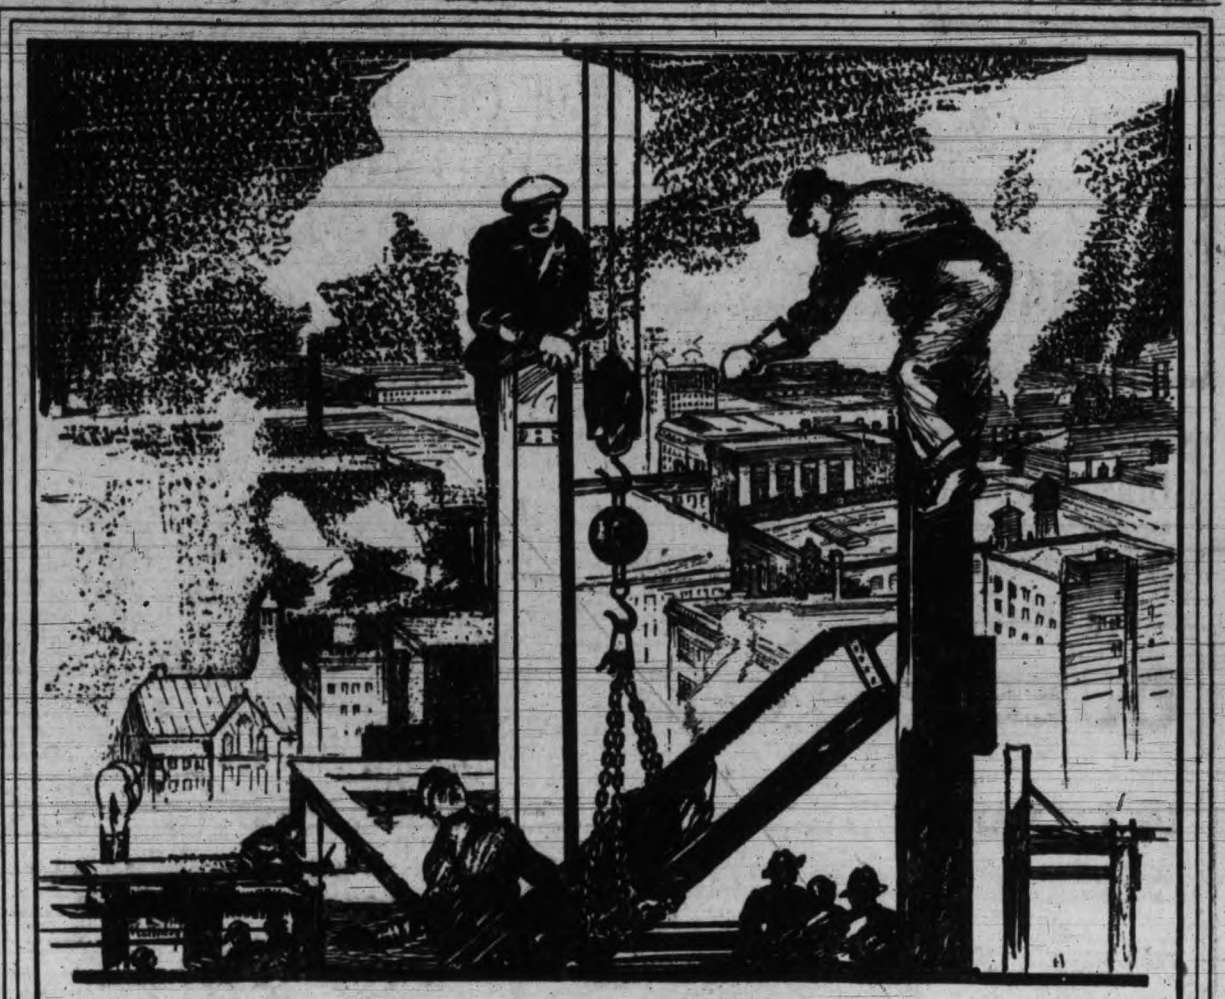

Construction of approximately five miles of electric power lines in Sooke district will be commenced at once, following a successful canvass of the district for subscribers which has been conducted by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company.

More than sixty of the ninety residents tributary to the extension, have agreed to connect, the majority being near the Sooke Road. Service will be from the main Jordan River power line, the 60,000-volt current being cut down to 2,200 volts at transformer station to be erected adjacent to Milne's Landing. The special transformer required has been on order for some weeks and is expected to arrive from the East shortly.

The cost of the extension will amount to between $30,000 and $35,000, and is expected to be in operation within a few weeks.

PREMIER KING PLANNING TOUR TO B.C. COAST

Prime Minister Expects to Leave Ottawa in Latter Part of October

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Premier King expects to make a western trip, which probably will take him to the British Columbia coast, starting about the end of October. It will be a somewhat hurried trip, the Prime Minister said last night, but he will make a number of speeches, some of them in all probability on the way out to the west.

Definite arrangements for the trip have been somewhat held up owing to lack of information as to just when Premier Ramsay MacDonald would come to Ottawa. It has now been settled Mr. MacDonald will be in the Capital shortly after October 15, and Mr. King's trip will begin after the departure of the British Prime Minister.

UNEVEN MARKET BROOKMIRE SAYS

New York, Sept. 18.—In many instances stocks which have declined or have failed to go ahead in this market have represented industries which were not on a sound statistical basis, the Brookmire Economic Service Inc. points out in its latest bulletin.

"Declines have taken place in leather, rubber, sugar, flour, department stores, fertilizer and motor stocks," it says. "There also are industries where price cutting or competitive conditions have so developed as to cut into profits or make investors wary of the stock, as in the case of rubber and tobacco shares until recently."

"The bull market is not a market wherein every common stock is going ahead, but wherein it is possible to operate profitably both from the investment and trading standpoint by making a proper selection of stocks."

Super Power To Go To Electric Bond

New York, Sept. 18.—Although no announcement was made yesterday after the meeting of directors of Electric Bond and Share relative to the pending acquisition of American Super Power, it is understood in well informed circles that the successful consummation of the deal is now only a matter of time.

What is holding up the transaction, it is understood, is the question as to whether it would be more advisable to bring American Super Power into Electric Investors, which is the Electric Bond and Share Company's investment trust and holding company.

Sudbury May Lose Smelters-Ventures Big New Refinery

Toronto, Sept. 18.—(Mehar, Row wire)—Stable, Forlong today says: The rumor is that the Smelter-Ventures electrolytic zinc refinery may not be erected at Sudbury.

Sudbury Power situation would seem to be the governing factor. It is estimated by some sources that 100,000 horsepower would be required to feed such a zinc refinery. The Wana-pet Power project intended to feed

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Wheat: The market displayed strength during the first period of morning when prices advanced 1½ cent from the close last night. A moderate export business was reported working over night, in 4 and 5 grades from supplies close at hand and this was reflected in the local pit with exporters and New York interests on buying side, by the way of lifting hedges.

On the upturn, offerings became very heavy, there being considerable selling by Chicago interests, which was understood to be unwinding spreads between the two markets and the demand became filled up, the market selling off sharply and losing more than the earlier gains.

Outside of rains in Argentina which appear to have been more or less general and very beneficial to the growing crops, the news to-day was somewhat bullish with Australia reporting unfavorable weather with crop estimates being reduced.

Liverpool closed ½ to 1½ up and Buenos Ayres was ½ higher at noon. It was also believed that European importers were beginning to show more interest in North American wheat after leaving these markets very much alone for several weeks, during which time they have been consuming native supply and Argentine old crop.

There was a better tone to cash wheat market, there being a fair inquiry for practically all grades. Offerings were light and prices unchanged to ¼ better. Millers reported a small business in flour. There was no change in the durum, demand being rather indifferent, but shippers continue to take all offers at spreads above old unchanged.

If Winnipeg October narrows up its premium over Chicago September by a few cents the general opinion is that Europe must be getting near the point where more active buying of North American wheat will be necessary.

Pending these developments, a two-cent market seems to be in prospect. Coarse grains: There was very little doing in coarse grains, consumptive demand being extremely dull. All markets held firm more from the lack of offerings than anything else. No feature to anything.

Flax: Market continues to show decided strength with prices advanced with very little selling on. Offerings are practically nil.

CHAPTER XI

Even Helen was touched by the piteous quaver with which Mr. Cunningham echoed Brent's words. It bespoke a yearning that had little in keeping with the character that had been attributed to her grandfather. The disparity confused her.

And in a flash her confusion was deepened, for Mr. Cunningham burst suddenly into a laugh that was like a slap in her face. It was merciless, sardonic, insulting.

"I dare say I may if I wish to pay the price," Mr. Cunningham went on. "It would be nice for my granddaughter if I cared to see her. Nice for Nellin, too. Yes, nice perhaps for Nellin."

He shook his head and his cackled laughter ceased.

"I think it would be nice, as you put it," Brent interjected sharply. "For you, Mr. Cunningham."

"Why? For me? So you think I've some lingering affection for Evangeline left, do you? Why?"

He stopped abruptly and looked at Brent with rising suspicion of him as an individual. "What have you to do with her? Or with my granddaughter?" he gasped. And waited breathlessly for the answer.

He was torturing himself and he knew it. Turning his pride upon himself and feeling it as the cutting edge of a sharp knife.

He had longed for his daughter's return, prayed for it, and now that word of her was at hand his old obsession returned. He would not give her for having disgraced him. Her marriage to Nellin always had appeared to him in this light. To refuse her forgiveness and make Nellin suffer had become an obsession with him. And it had not entirely left him.

"I have a great deal to do with her story and with your granddaughter," Brent returned quietly. "But you, Mr. sir, I should prefer not to deal with if I could not force you to me."

"Forced upon you, eh?" The remark seemed to puzzle the old man. But he was not at a loss for action. Swiftly he turned to Helen. "Who are you?" he cried excitedly. "An impostor, I suspect."

Helen jumped to her feet. "Oh let us go!" she appealed to Brent.

"Most willingly," he said instantly. "If I could forgive my promise to your father."

"Then tell him, tell him quickly, and let us go," Helen pleaded, completely ignoring the man who struggled helplessly to rise from his chair. Brent faced him. "It is an obligation to a friend that brings me here, Mr. Cunningham," he said simply. "And this young lady is neither Miss Brent as I introduced her to spare you a shock, nor an impostor. She is Evangeline Nellin."

Mr. Cunningham sank back in his chair and closed his eyes. When he opened them they set upon Helen with a devouring eagerness that frightened her.

Here before him stood a girl who bore his daughter's name—a girl who might be his own flesh and blood. And yet he did not believe. He could not believe. It was unbelievable. He didn't want to believe. Yes, he did. He could make her suffer. They had sent her, sent the girl, here to make their peace with him. Well, he would show them how little they had to hope for. Show them quickly enough.

"Evangeline Nellin," he sneered. "You sneer changed fiercely to a snarl. "What do you think I am, a dithering old fool?" he thrust at Brent.

Brent shrugged. "I believe you would not care to listen to my opinion of you, Mr. Cunningham," he said evenly.

"Why? For me? So you think I've some lingering affection for Evangeline left, do you? Why?"

He stopped abruptly and looked at Brent with rising suspicion of him as an individual. "What have you to do with her? Or with my granddaughter?" he gasped. And waited breathlessly for the answer.

your valet or companion and let him give you something to steady you, sir." Brent replied, concerned with the effect of the shock he had dealt the old man.

"I'm all right," Mr. Cunningham insisted, but quite obviously he was in great physical distress. Just hand me that glass, please," he directed, reaching out a hand toward a nearby table.

Brent did as he requested. The glass must be thought, contain something Mr. Cunningham had been on the verge of taking when they entered his room, for the liquid was of a pale, greyish tinge.

Mr. Cunningham swallowed it quickly, and settled back in his chair to rest a moment before speaking again. Brent and Helen waited.

Finally he turned his eyes upon Helen and in them was a soft light. But there had been no miraculous change in him. His sorrow still was colored with bitterness.

Who these two were and what they wanted of him he had yet to prove to himself.

Suddenly Helen asked a question of Brent that opened the interview anew. "Leonard," she said with a note of tenderness, "the voice that was not lost upon your host, Leonard, you said awhile ago that you have seen a picture of my mother. Let me see it."

"Have you got it? Let me see it," Brent pretty acting, Mr. Cunningham thought, if it were acting. Very convincing.

"Yes," Brent said, "I have it." "And I never let me see it," Helen waited in reproach.

Brent smiled wearily. "Remember," he said, "that I didn't want the past to claim you."

Mr. Cunningham broke in with an impatient tapping of his cane. "Have you come here to discuss this matter with each other or with me?" he asked sternly.

"I beg your pardon," Brent apologized quickly. "But you see, Miss Nellin did not know until yesterday who her mother and father were."

Mr. Cunningham's gaze went from one face to another, seeking an answer to this amazing statement.

"Perhaps," he suggested, "since you have come here it would be better if you told me your story from the beginning."

"Right," Brent agreed. "When we have done that we shall have no further obligations to you or to your daughter and her husband."

"Nellin is he alive?" "He is not, and please listen, sir, without interruption."

Mr. Cunningham nodded in assent. Brent told him then of how he was called to Mexico to the bedside of his dying friend, Charles Nellin, and of the charge of the little girl who was named for her mother, Evangeline.

"They called themselves Mr. and Mrs. Page," he explained before Helen could tell how he had brought her. "Because Charles feared that one of your agents might find them and succeed in separating him from Evangeline."

"So he had cause to fear that, had he?" Mr. Cunningham did not express his thoughts aloud, but Brent sensed it, as he revealed when he said: "I trust you that Nellin had his faults, but he was an artist and he loved his wife enough to prefer vagabondage to losing her."

"Vagabondage," the word came as a whisper and Brent went on without pause.

"I have kept the secret of Helen's parentage for fifteen years," he said at the end of the story. "Frankly I had no wish to bring her to you, sir, but as I've said, I was compelled to do so. And I have not hesitated to reveal your character to her as it came to me from my friend, Charles. Everything rests with you and Helen now, but I hope . . . He paused and looked at Helen.

"Yes," Mr. Cunningham cut in abruptly. "What is it, you hope?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Squash

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggily was feeling sad. He felt you why. He had to do with a wishing stone. The rabbit gentleman found a funny stone, which a Squiggle Bug said was lucky. But the rabbit either threw it, or the stone flew of itself, and bashed the Bob Cat on the nose when Mr. Longears wished it would.

Then the stone was lost and Uncle Wiggily thought he saw it in a bramble bush, so he jumped in, but he couldn't jump out of the bush, for the brambles and stickier briars were too thick.

On the ground at the bottom of the bush Uncle Wiggily saw what he thought was his wishing stone and he wished that all the brambles would drop off the bush, and they did.

"But it wasn't the wishing stone that did it," said the bunny to the Squiggle Bug who was with him. "It was this kind bird, called the snipe, who cut the brambles off with his sharp beak."

"That's what I did," whistled the snipe. "And I'm sorry if I spoiled your wishing stone fun."

"Oh, I'm glad to get out of that bramble bush," the rabbit said, for he had crawled out after the stickers were all gone. "As for my wishing stone, I don't know where it is," and he looked all around on the ground near where the Bob Cat had sat when the other stone bashed him on the nose.

"Come on with me," buzzed the Squiggle Bug. "You and I will travel for a year and a day until we find that wishing stone."

"Oh, I'm afraid I couldn't be gone that long," said Uncle Wiggily. "Though I'd love to find my wishing stone and try my luck."

"Well, then, let's travel for just a day or two," said the Bug.

So he and Uncle Wiggily traveled all around in the wood the rest of the day, the Squiggle Bug sitting up on Uncle Wiggily's high ear to get a good view of the country.

But though they found many queer stones, none of them seemed to be of the wishing kind. For though Uncle Wiggily made many wishes, none of them came true.

So when night came and he hopped back to his hollow stump, Uncle Wiggily was feeling sad about the loss of his wishing stone.

"But I'll search for it again tomorrow," he said to his wife.

"Look here," Mr. Longears said the rabbit lady kindly. "I think it's all nonsense about your wishing stone. You never had one."

"I'm sure I did," said Uncle Wiggily. "Or else I dreamed of the many queer things that happened to me."

"You must have dreamed it," said his wife.

"But I'm sure I didn't dream about being in the bramble bush and about the Bob Cat being bashed on the nose with a funny stone I found when I was with the Squiggle Bug," said the rabbit. "For it was day."

"I've heard of day dreams," laughed Mrs. Longears. "Maybe yours was that kind. Don't bother to look for a wishing stone."

But Uncle Wiggily would not give up, so he hopped here and there looking for stones that was something like an ice cream cone yet was not, which was something like a lollipop, yet wasn't, and something like a chocolate bar, yet wasn't. For that's the kind a stone he had first found.

It was the second day of his search, and Uncle Wiggily was hopping past a farm in the country on top of a hill when, all of a sudden, he heard a voice say:

"It's as hard as a stone."

"Yes, they're always hard as stones," said another voice. "And don't you wish you had some made into pie?"

"I wish I had some made into three pies," said the other voice.

"Ha! They must have found my wishing stone!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "Maybe if I jump out at them and cry 'Boo!' they'll drop it and I can have it again."

So the rabbit shouted "Boo!" very loudly and made a rustling noise in the bushes and, all of a sudden, two farmer boys shouted and ran out, and one of them dropped something dark green in color and round.

"That must be my wishing stone, but it has grown!" said Uncle Wiggily, feeling rather big and proud of himself after having made two boys run away. But they didn't know it was a rabbit who had hooded them.

The dark green, round thing the boys had dropped began rolling down the hill and Uncle Wiggily ran after it. And half way down the hill, out popped the Pussy Fox, hoping to grab the bunny as he ran past. But the round thing hit him on the head and knocked him into the bushes as Uncle Wiggily hurried up, hoping to get his wishing stone.

But the round thing was only a big squash, something like a pumpkin, and it was as hard as a stone, as these squash always are. Uncle Wiggily was sad and disappointed because he hadn't found his wishing stone, but he was glad the squash had bashed the Fox. And did you say you saw the piano playing with the radio? Well, if you did, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and how he fell in.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 18.—Two deputy sheriffs greeted Mrs. Edward B. McLean, wife of the Washington, D.C. publisher, when she stepped out of an expensive automobile in Worcester yesterday. The sheriffs attached the automobile for alleged non-payment of bills totaling $4,800 for gardening work done at Mrs. McLean's summer home in Newport, R.I.

Mrs. McLean, who motored to Worcester to board a train for Chicago, said she never had received a bill for the work done and would arrange for payment to be made to-morrow.

DOROTHY DIX

WOMEN marry for companionship just as much as men do. The ideal husband of every woman's girlish dreams is a man who will be an intimate friend to whom she can tell everything she thinks and who will take a real heart interest in everything she does. She pictures her future on the hinter side of the altar as a perpetual gabfest with a companion who is a good listener and a better talker.

This fairy tale comes true to very few women. Only too many husbands drop their alluring line of conversation on their wedding day, and after they have ceased telling their wives how beautiful and wonderful and how different they are from all other women, they pass into the great silence. Only too many husbands spend their evenings wrapped up in the afternoon newspaper and in a state of coma, only responding in inarticulate grunts when they are spoken to. Drop in for an evening call on half the families you know and you will find the husband and wife sitting up like dummies.

Surely this is not the fault of women, for no daughter of Eve was ever yet averse to the use of her tongue, and the woman who has spent the day doing household tasks, with little contact with the outside world, is just bottled up with things she is dying to talk about.

So I asked a group of women why it was that there was so little of the domestic brand of conversation.

Said one woman: "I don't talk to my husband because I long ago wore myself out as a monologist. I exhausted my repertoire. You can't go on forever telling things to a man who is as unresponsive as a wooden Indian."

"So far as I can tell, my husband never listens to anything I say and about the only reply he ever makes to anything I say to him is 'ugh-huh,' which doesn't open up brilliant conversational vistas. He makes me feel that I am boring him to tears, yet I am not a dull nor ignorant woman. I read far more than he does and appear to be able to interest other people."

"I'd love to be able to talk over my hopes and plans and thoughts with him, and to discuss with him the topics of the day and the plays I see and the books I read and tell him little interesting pieces of gossip I have picked up, but I found it was no use. He would just say 'ugh-huh' and that would dry up my fountain of inspiration. Hence these gobs of silence in our house."

"I don't talk to my husband," said another woman, "because I am afraid of his ridicule. He always makes me feel like a fool. If I express an opinion on any public question, he tells me that I don't know what I am talking about. If I attempt to tell a story, he sneers at it and says that was a chestnut that he cut his teeth on in the cradle and if I ever confess any mistake that I have made, he dressed it up into a funny story that becomes his pet joke at every dinner table we are invited to."

"If I tell my husband something that happened at some of the women's clubs to which I belong, he dismisses it scornfully as the cackling of a lot of old hens. He interrupts my best story to say that he has heard it before, whether he ever has or not, and when I try to tell him how I feel about something really important he calls me neurotic."

"Therefore, since I don't enjoy being accused of being a moron, or laughed at, I never attempt to talk to my husband about anything except the children and the house, and as they are not very thrilling topics for perpetual discussion, mostly sit up in a silence in which you could hear a pin drop, which is not my idea of a hilarious evening."

Said another woman: "The reason I don't talk to my husband is because he is a chronic objector. He seems to think that he shows his authority and asserts his position as head of the house by vetoing everything that I want to do and throwing a wet blanket over my every hope and enthusiasm."

"When I was married I was one of these fool brides who think it their duty to tell their husbands about everything they think and consult him about everything they do or think of doing. The result was that we were in a perpetual row, and I was dissolved in tears half of the time."

"When I would casually remark that I had been over to see mother, he would tell me that my place was in my own home, and if I would mention that mother said so-and-so, he would imagine that she was trying to interfere in our affairs. When I would tell him about what some of my girl friends did, he would object to my associating with them because they were too frivolous or too extravagant or too something or other."

If I wanted a room papered in blue, he would object and insist on red. If I wanted to go out somewhere on an evening, it was always too hot or too cold or too rainy or too dry or he was too tired."

"So, having almost human intelligence although a woman, I learned that the least said was the soonest mended, and that the things my husband didn't know about my mother and my friends he couldn't criticize, and that I saved an acrimonious argument by going along and doing what I wanted to do without discussing it. Half the time he never found out about it and didn't care, anyway."

"Also that he couldn't twit me with my mistakes and blunders in house-keeping if I didn't tell him about them. So now when I make a foolish bargain, I keep silent as the grave about it. And when I burn a batch of biscuits or 'choot a cake like lead I chuck it into the garbage can and never mention it. This method cramps conversation, but it makes peace and harmony."

Said another woman: "The reason I do not talk to my husband is because we have no mutual interests except the home and children. He never talks to me about his business or tells me what he is going to do or has done or confides any of his plans to me, and when I try to tell him about what I do he yawns in my face. He shuts me out of his world and refuses to enter mine. So we are like foreigners, shouting a language which neither understands to the other."

So that is why home life is so dull.

Samuel Johnson Found Books Better Than Apples

Samuel Johnson was hunting for some apples which his brother had hidden. They were big, rosy apples, and he had asked for one. But his brother had hidden them away, somewhere in the father's shop, where the two boys were playing.

The father was a bookseller, and had rows and rows of shelves filled with books. When the brother went away, Samuel started looking for the apples. He felt sure his brother had hidden them behind some big books, away up high.

Samuel climbed up. He pulled out books, but he found no apples. Then he looked at one of the books he held in his hand. He sat down on the top of the step ladder, with which he had reached the books, and began looking at it. It was a translation of some Latin poems. For a small boy, Samuel read very big books, and this book interested him.

He read and read, and thought no more of the apples. When his father came in, he demanded to know why his son was perched up there. Samuel couldn't remember how he'd got there. He'd forgotten all about the apples.
Samuel Johnson, born September 18, 1709, became one of the greatest English writers.

To-morrow's Horoscope

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1929

According to astrology there is one strongly benefic aspect dominant to-day in which certain adverse influences also are discerned.
The early hours may be unfavorable to calm judgment or clear decisions. The sway is not auspicious for legal matters.

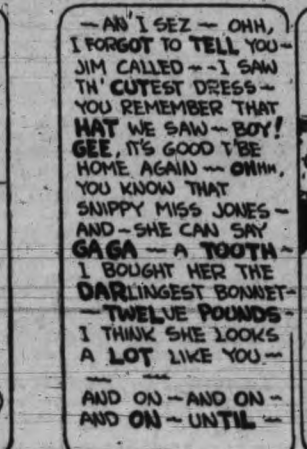

It is not a favorable way for aviation, making for delays and even accidents that prevent ambitious achievement.
The day should be fairly lucky for those who seek promotion or positions that are well paid.
Under this direction of the stars persons who carry heavy responsibilities are likely to be quick to perceive possibilities in employees. It is an auspicious day for obtaining favors.
The planetary government certainly seems to aid all who have tasted success and to promise to them increase of fame as well as money.

Millionaires are to multiply as the year closes and new wealth is to be produced in amazing ways; the seers prophesy for their foretold inventions as marvelous as the radio.
While there are aspects helpful to those who pursue material gain the stars throw on romance and sentiment to-day.
It is not a lucky day for weddings, since husbands may be dictatorial and inclined to rule with iron hands.
Theaters may encounter unexpected casualties while this sway continues and may lose money in presenting novel plays.
The seers prophesy for the stage dramas of real literary attainment and general appeal. At least one is to create a sensation.

Hotels and resorts of many sorts are to enjoy months of extraordinary prosperity, if the stars are rightly read.
Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of pleasant chances and real progress in the coming year.
Children born on this day probably will attain success in whatever vocation they choose. The subjects of the sign usually are vital, original and industrious.
William B. Astor, capitalist, was born on this day, 1792. This was the birthday of Senator Key Pittman, 1877; and of William Robertson, Scottish historian, 1751.

MISS RUTH ALBRIGHT, CLEVER COMEDienne, HERE AT COLISEUM

With the locale on a large cattle ranch in Arizona, the Mildred Page Players are appearing all this week on the stage at the Coliseum Theatre in a three-act western drama entitled
"The Boss of the Ranch" from the pen of Hugh Fittling, well-known play writer.

The plot of this week's stage attraction is interesting and not once during the hour's performance does the attention of the audience lag. Through the more serious parts of the play run comic turns which keep the audience in roars of laughter.

Miss Ruth Albright is again cleverly cast in a comic role, and this week has the part of an old fashioned widow of uncertain age. She has her own strong notions on certain subjects, and is continually reminding those about her to remember that she is "lady, born and bred." Her costume is of twenty years ago and Miss Albright cuts a comical figure when she appears on the stage in high buttoned boots, high waistline, and a tiny hat with a huge feather perched on the top of her head. Miss Albright is naturally clever in this role, and never overdoes it.

The screen attraction this week is a naval picture entitled "Q Ships," one of the few pictures ever made showing the tactics of these famous mystery ships during the Great War.

RALPH INCE, MOVIE DIRECTOR, HAS HAD
VARIED CAREER

Few people know that Ralph Ince, director of "Coney Island," which closes to-night at the Columbia
Theatre, was once a prominent newspaper cartoonist.

Mr. Ince, in his varied career, has been writer, cartoonist, actor, director, producer and author, and occasionally
tries his hand at scene painting.

In spite of all this, or maybe because of it, Ralph Ince is one of Hollywood's most popular members. He is one of the few directors who can fill a cast with the utmost ease. Everyone wants to play in an Ince film because Ralph has yet to make a show that is a failure.

LILA LEE WAS LEADING LADY AT AGE OF FOURTEEN

Lila Lee, who was a leading lady in motion pictures when she was only fourteen, appears opposite Jack Mul-hall in "Dark Streets," the first National Vitaphone production at the Capitol Theatre for the last time today.

Miss Lee was known as "Cuddles" when she left the stage to become one of the youngest leading ladies the screen has ever known. She entered pictures in 1919 and is now only twenty-four years old.

Now the little actress is again in the forefront of feminine players. She portrays an Irish girl in "Dark Streets," and in the story she has two admirers, a policeman and a gangster. Both these roles are played by Mulhall, who is taking his first dual part in pictures.

AGED FLAPPER CRASHES GATE TO GOLF FILM SET

When Tiffany-Stahl sent an order to the casting office for seventy-five beautiful girls for "Green Grass Widow," in which Walter Hagen is featured with John Harron and Gertrude Olmstead, the mob that stormed
the studio gates stopped traffic.

One of the applicants was an old lady of about fifty-five. She had bright red tresses, and tripped along on very high heels with the aid of a cane.

The sides of her face were caught up with adhesive tape. She appeared to be a very old woman, and was taken into the studio and allowed to remain on the sidelines of the Hagen set, receiving her pay check with the young beauties at the end of the day.

"Green Grass Widow," in which a story of young love is told on golf green and college campus, is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. The great golfer, besides playing cupid,
plays a game of golf that is exciting,
whether or not you know the difference between a bramble and a nib-lick, a birdie or a bogie.

VERSATILE BAND SEEN AND HEARD
IN "SYNCOPIATION"

The screen appearance of Fred Waring's Pennsylvaniaans, one of the most noted and versatile organizations of its kind in America, now scoring a tremendous success in RKO's musically film extravaganza, "Syncopation," at the Dominion Theatre today and Thursday, affords an unusual opportunity to analyze the distinctly American form of musical expression of which they are acknowledged masters and ranking favorites.

A study of the instruments and combinations used by these young men is amazing. Fred Waring, the director, imparts much of his own enthusiasm and pep to his men and conducts in a manner that produces maximum results.

The brass section is prolific in bizarre and beautiful effects, the three trumpeters using a dozen different mutes, derby hats, muffers and other unique devices and the rich, cello-like tones of the trombone often are mellowed and beautified by the clever use of the megaphone.

With $30 to Give Away,
Mystery Man to Drop in at Capitol To-morrow

The success of Charles Brown and Kenneth Rickman in finding Mr. Majestic last Saturday, and receiving $20 for their trouble, has fired the ambition of hundreds made to find the Mystery Man. As he remains undiscovered the cash in his pocket mounts by $10 a day. This is the third successive day in which he has been unapproached and he now has $30 for the first person who secures him with the question "Are You Mr. Majestic?" and at the same time can produce a copy of the Majestic radio folder, "The Voice of the Air," obtainable at Sommer's or Kent's radio stores, sponsors of the competition.

To-morrow afternoon or evening Majestic will vary his stroll around town
by dropping in at the Capitol Theatre to see a new detective mystery story,
"The Drake Case," which begins its run to-morrow. As possession of the folder is essential it behooves everyone who is going to the theatre to first make call at either Kent's or Sommer's, as "The Voice of the Air" can only be obtained at a Majestic Radio dealer.

Christopher Morley and Joan Lowell to Broadcast For NBC To-morrow

Two notable figures in the literary world, Christopher Morley and Joan Lowell, whose contributions created a greater flurry during last year than almost any other incidents in the field of literature, will appear before the microphones to-morrow, between 4 and 5 p.m. PST. They will be heard in a novel sketch during the Fleischmann Sunshine Hour, broadcast through forty-seven associated stations of the NBC Coast-to-coast system.

Morley, first known as an author and columnist, has risen within the last year to the peak of prominence as a result of his successful experiment in reviving melodramas that both entertained and shocked theatregoers a half century ago. He and his associate, changed Hoboken from a sailors' retreat to the sea coast of Bohemia.

Joan Lowell sprang into sudden fame with the appearance of her novel of the sea, "The Cradle of the Deep,"
and the resulting controversy.
